News

Best in class

USPS suppliers receive awards

April 24 at 10 a.m.

The Supplier Performance Award recipients gather following the ceremony. In the back row, from left, are USPS Supply Management Acting Vice President Mark A. Guilfoil; Suzan Porter, C. Blackburn Inc.; Guy Abramo, General Information Services Inc.; Rich Mohr, Ryder System Inc.; Roger Gravley, GovDeals Inc.; Bruce Fears, Aramark; J. David Barker, Metro Air Service Inc.; and USPS Chief Financial Officer Joe Corbett. In the front row, from left, are Beverly Drew, Asset LifeCycle LLC; Jon Goodrich, Victory Packaging; Lawrence Bove, Weston Solutions Inc.; Matthew Byrne, UnitedHealthcare; Cameron Chehreh, Dell EMC; and Jennifer Swindell, Aquilent Inc., a subsidiary of Booz Allen Hamilton.

The Postal Service recently honored 12 businesses for their performance and support of the organization's mission.

The companies received Supplier Performance Awards in five categories: performance, excellence, innovation, sustainability and supplier council excellence. A list of the honorees is shown below.

Chief Financial Officer Joe Corbett presented the awards during a ceremony April 17 in Potomac, MD.

"The Postal Service is proud to honor these 12 businesses for their contributions to our organization," Corbett said. "They each help us to achieve bottom-line savings, strengthen our performance and deliver for our customers."

The Postal Service spent more than $12.9 billion for transportation, supplies, services, facilities and equipment with more than 15,000 suppliers during 2018.

Supplier Performance Winners

SUPPLIER PERFORMANCE

DellEMC / Dell Technologies
UnitedHealthcare
Victory Packaging
Weston Solutions, Inc.

SUPPLIER EXCELLENCE

Aquilent, a subsidiary of Booz Allen Hamilton
GovDeals, Inc.
Metro Air Service, Inc.
Ryder System, Inc.

SUPPLIER INNOVATION

General Information Services, Inc.

SUPPLIER SUSTAINABILITY EXCELLENCE

Aramark
C. Blackburn Inc.

POSTAL SUPPLIER COUNCIL EXCELLENCE

Asset LifeCycle LLC