B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statement

The preparation of financial statements of insurance companies requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Such estimates and assumptions could change in the future as more information becomes known, which could impact the amounts reported and disclosed herein.

C. Accounting Policy

Premiums are earned over the terms of the related insurance policies and reinsurance contracts. Unearned premium reserves are established to cover the unexpired portion of premiums written. Such reserves are based on reports received from ceding companies for reinsurance assumed. Estimates are made in regard to premium accrued as cession statements are received in arrears from ceding companies. These accruals are reflected in premiums receivable.

Expenses incurred in connection with acquiring new insurance business, including such acquisition costs as sales commissions, are charged to operations as incurred. Expenses incurred are reduced for ceding allowances received or receivable.
