Community Involvement in Plan Development

Swan Valley School District met with ISBA on Thursday June 3, 2021 to begin discussing goals for the 2021-22 school year. This was followed up with a school board meeting on Thursday September 16, 2021, where goals for the upcoming year were discussed. During the board meeting on Thursday September 16, 2021, the board formulated some goals based on input from ISBA and the community. Many of these goals were used for the 2022-23 school year and will continue for the 2023-24 school year to maintain consistency from year to year. The Swan Valley School Board met on Tuesday August 8, 2023, to discuss the Continuous Improvement Plan and the final plan was adopted on Tuesday September 12, 2023.

Parents are encouraged to participate in parent/staff meetings to discuss concerns and issues, to attend board meetings or visit with board members to discuss ideas, share concerns regarding their child’s progress or performance with staff members, and review materials and provided feedback to district administrator.

In addition, we have also found that if parents get involved in volunteer activities, such as PTO, school carnival and activity nights at the school, gain a better understanding of the school’s mission and goals. As a result, they have more of an interest in their own child’s success and will be more apt to help develop a plan for strengthening the progress of our students. We also stress parent participate as an active partner in parent/teacher conferences, regular communication with their child’s teachers and supporting their child’s learning by making sure they attend school regularly.
