

Code of CONDUCT

OCTOBER/2023

Letter from our Chairman of the Board of Directors

Braskem is a reference in its industry, contributing chemical and plastic solutions to improving people's lives. To maintain this performance, it is essential that the conduct of all its Members and Third Parties is based on ethics, integrity and transparency, and in compliance with all current regulations and laws.

As Braskem Team Members, we must remember that our results matter, but the path we take to achieve them is equally important. This Code of Conduct aims to actively contribute to the consolidation of our culture, as a guide for acting with respect, impartiality, equity, justice and integrity in all actions, and above all to support us in making the best decisions.

Discover the new Code of Conduct. Be an example and share the guidelines in this document with your peers, employees and/or business partners with whom you have contact.

You are a fundamental part of Braskem's ability to maintain a productive, innovative and responsible business environment.

Yours sincerely,

José Mauro M. Carneiro da Cunha
Chairman of the Board of Directors of Braskem

Letter from our Business Leader

At Braskem, we are committed to acting in all our relationships with ethics, integrity and transparency, in compliance with all applicable laws.

Therefore, it is essential that our Team Members follow this Code of Conduct – each advisor, leader and member working on behalf of Braskem, regardless of their activity or location – acting in accordance with its commitments to effectively strengthen our organizational culture.

The Code was adopted by Braskem's Board of Directors to establish a set of business conduct standards that must be applied to our professional routine in our interactions with customers, shareholders, suppliers and business partners, as well as in our personal routines.

It is important that everyone is aware of and respects the rules of this Code. It is essential that these principles are followed consciously and responsibly. To preserve business security, we count on the commitment of each member to act in accordance with these guidelines.

Thank you for helping us maintain Braskem's culture of ethics and compliance.

Yours sincerely,

Roberto Bischoff
Braskem Business Leader

CONDUCT COMMITMENTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

1.1. Commitments

For Braskem, integrity, ethics and transparency are at the core foundation of our business. We believe that by operating in this way we can contribute to the improvement of general compliance and governance practices in the institutions where we operate. This commitment starts with Braskem's Board of Directors and must be followed by every Team Member of our organization. We also expect Braskem's Third Parties to embrace and adhere to our principles, which are crucial for safeguarding the Company's image and reputation, fostering a Compliance environment throughout it's the entire value chain:

- Maintain ethics, fairness, respect and transparency in our relationships and regularly disclose information that is accurate, comprehensive, and accessible;
- Zero tolerance for and fight against corruption in any form, including extortion and bribery;
- Understand that misconduct and misbehavior, whether by action, omission, or complacency, can harm society, violate the law, and damage the image of both the Company and its Team Members.

These principles require the operation of an entire system based on continuously updated Guidance Materials, ensuring effective implementation, educating and raising awareness amongst all Team Members, and focusing on prevention rather than reaction.

We are also committed to act in accordance with the principles of sustainable development. We believe sustainability allows us to conduct our business responsibly, ethically, and transparently, generating positive results for all stakeholders, including customers, shareholders, investors, Team Members, suppliers, the communities where the Company operates, and society in general. Braskem is committed to the simultaneous promotion of: economic growth, environmental preservation (including water resources), ensuring local quality of life, respect for local culture and its historical heritage, and social justice.

For more detailed information, see the Sustainable Development Policy and other Company Guidance Materials on this subject.

1.2. Responsibilities

As a Team Member, you are responsible to:

- Know and follow this Code of Conduct;
- Read, understand and put in practice all Company Guidance Materials (available in the intranet) as well as follow current laws, with the support of your Leader, Compliance and Legal Areas if you are unclear as to how the laws affect you;
- Complete mandatory training;
- Have excellent conduct inside and outside Braskem's facilities, when working for or acting on behalf the Company and when your actions can be associated with the Company names and brands, in order to avoid damage to the Company's reputation;
- Be aware that deviations from Company's policies and provisions, whether by action, omission or complacency, may hurt society, violate laws and damage the image and reputation of Braskem;
- Not ignore and actively report any potential violations you have to your Leader, the Compliance team or directly to the Ethics Line Channel.

If you are a Leader, you have additional responsibilities:

- Stay informed, ensuring Team Members understand the applicable laws and Company Guidance Materials;
- Set an example, conducting yourself according to Braskem's standards of ethics, integrity, and transparency;
- Have an open, transparent relationship with Team Members;
- Continually encourage your Teams Members to report potential violations to the Ethics Line Channel;
- Report any misconduct or violation of the Company's policies to the Ethics Line Channel that you became aware of.

Beyond compliance, all Team Members are expected to observe high standards of business and personal ethics in the fulfillment of their assigned duties and PA responsibilities. Any Team Member who does not adhere to such standards and restrictions is acting outside the scope of his or her employment, responsibilities, or activity.

Team Members with questions on applicable laws, this Code or Company Guidance Materials should consult the Compliance or Legal Areas.

1.3. Asset Use and Protection

Braskem is concerned about the appropriate use of information, personal data and assets. To this regard, it is expected that Team Members protect Braskem’s assets, both tangible and intangible. Braskem’s assets include, among others, facilities, machinery, equipment, electronic devices, vehicles, furniture, securities, data, information, and intellectual property, as well as Braskem’s brands and names.

Every individual within Braskem is responsible to use information technology resources, including cellphones, emails, internet access, software, hardware, and other resources, in a manner that aligns with their assigned Company duties. Note that Braskem reserves the right to trace and monitor the utilization of these resources, either for compliance purposes dictated by external regulations or internal procedures relating to information security. Therefore, Team Members may expect Company monitoring regarding usage of the Company’s technological resources.

For more information, see the Company’s Guidance Materials: Global Privacy & Data Protection Policy and Classification Information Directive.

As a Team Member you must:

- Protect Braskem’s tangible and intangible assets, including the Company’s brands and names;
- Not disclose or misuse confidential or restricted information, including outside of the Company or for personal gain – either during or after employment, or other service rendered to the Company, without valid and proper written authorization from the Company to disclose said information.
- Know that the data, records, and information produced by Team Members or obtained in the course of their work responsibilities are exclusive property of the Company, its customers or other Third Parties, respectively.

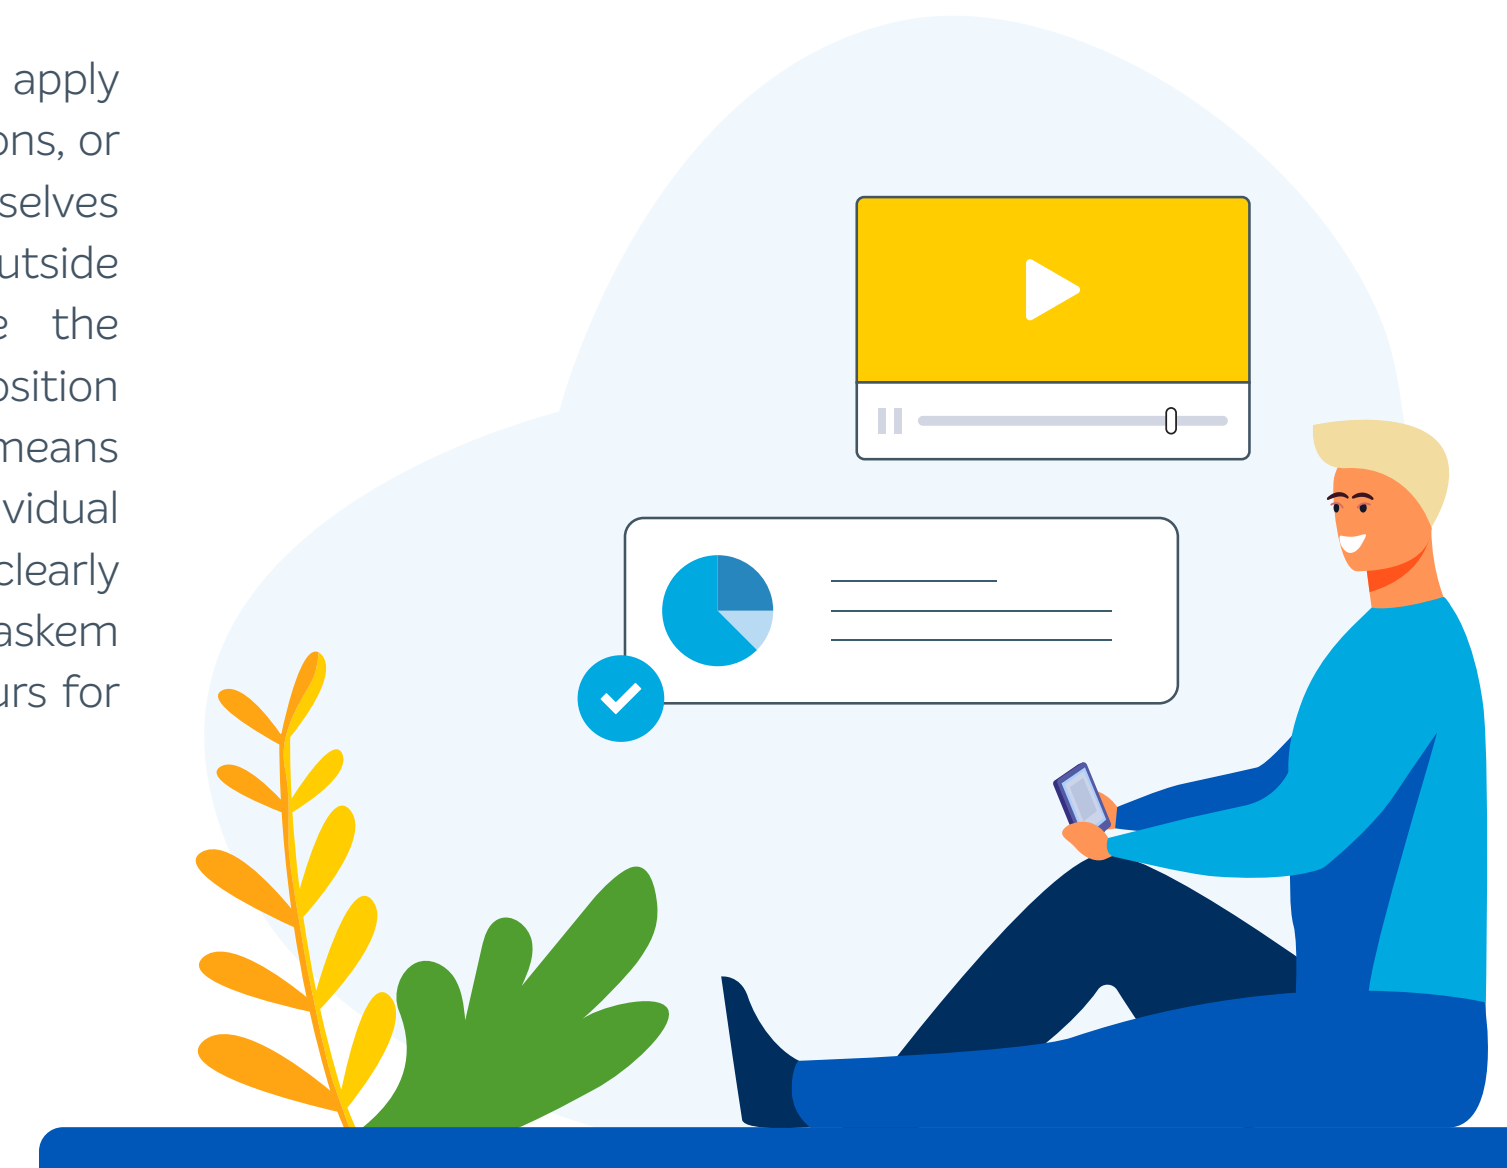

Also, you cannot destroy records relating to a judicial summons, out-of-court notification, or that are relevant to an investigation or litigation. This practice may, even inadvertently, cause damage to Braskem. If a Team Member has doubts as to whether a particular record is related to an investigation, litigation, or a summons, or on how to preserve particular types of records, he/she must preserve the records concerned and refer to the Legal area to determine the course of action to be taken.

1.4 Exercise of Political Rights

Braskem does not adopt a political party position and cannot be linked to any political party activities. Similarly, our Team Members are not allowed to conduct party activities or to request votes, either directly or indirectly, in the name of or utilizing the resources or facilities of Braskem.

Team Members can participate, in their private life, in the political process and must respect the choices and the personal exercise of citizenship of other Team Members, including the free expression of thought and the individual’s choice of political participation, party affiliation, and candidacy for public or political office.

Team Members who opt to apply for political or public positions, or who wish to express themselves politically and publicly outside Braskem, must not use the advantages of their position or use any resources or means of Braskem. These individual activities must be clearly disassociated from Braskem and from their working hours for Braskem.

2. HEALTH, ENVIRONMENT AND SAFETY

We must comply with all applicable laws and relevant industry standards of practice concerning health, safety, environment and security. This means Braskem is committed to the safety of its Team Members in the workplace, to preventing environmental pollution and to fostering positive social impact in the communities affected by the Company's operations.

If you become aware of any incident relating to health and safety or to the environment involving Braskem, you must notify your Leader immediately in writing. If you are a Leader, you must notify, in writing, the appropriate Leaders responsible for the work in progress and/or for environmental safety or Team Members responsible for health and safety, as necessary.

Safety is a fundamental and non-negotiable value for Braskem. So, as a Team Member, you cannot:

- Consume alcoholic beverages or use drugs in the workplace. People in a state of intoxication or under the influence of substances that inhibit their behavior are prohibited from accessing any Braskem premises. The consuming of alcoholic beverages in Braskem might occur in organized special occasions, if provided by the Company, complying with the applicable laws and the local culture, and guaranteeing that such conduct will not be followed by any kind of work that can have risks increased by the influence of alcohol;
- Bear weapons on Braskem's premises if not expressly necessary for the performance of your PA activities;
- Commercialize goods or services of private interest on Braskem's premises;
- Prevent access or impede the work of inspectors or auditors on our premises. If you become aware of a previously unannounced inspection or audit, it is your duty to promptly notify, in writing, your Leader and the Legal Area. Leaders are responsible to ensure that the monitoring of such inspecting or auditing authorities is conducted by qualified and trained Team Members.

3. HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION

Diversity, equity and inclusion generate benefits to our Company, to our Team Members and to society.

For Braskem, respect is a non-negotiable value and the Company does not accept discrimination of any kind, including but not limited to discriminations based on identities of gender and sexual orientation, religion, race, culture, nationality, social class, age, physical or intellectual characteristics or disabilities.

The use or abuse of your position to request favors or personal services from Team Members is not allowed, nor is the abuse of power or authority by any Team Member allowed to result in actions by its Leaders in conflict with existing laws and regulations. Further, intrusion into people's private lives is not permitted, neither in the workplace nor outside of it.

Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated at Braskem.

Moral Harassment is when a harassing individual or group intentionally exposes another individual or group, the victims, to humiliating and embarrassing situations in the workplace, in a constant, repetitive and prolonged manner.

Sexual Harassment is abusive conduct of a sexual nature where a harasser makes unwanted sexual advances, tries to obtain sexual favors, or verbally or physically harasses a victim in a sexual manner. The harasser and the victim often have a working relationship with in instances of sexual harassment.

Harassment and discrimination may be verbal, physical, visual, psychological or sexual, and may occur via intimidation, humiliation, bullying, pickup lines, racial insults, sharing offensive material, making offensive jokes, comments or requests, retaliations, threats, ghosting, both as aggressions or microaggressions.

Braskem relies on creating trust-based relationships so that people feel free to be who they are. Thus, all Team Members shall be treated fairly and equitably with respect to their differences and shall not endure discrimination of any kind.

As a Team Member, you are responsible for maintaining a respectful work environment in which all feel welcome and are free of harassment, discrimination, or other improper conduct. Braskem's ambition is to provide equal opportunity free from bias or discrimination to all Team Members, in the processes of hiring, promotion, compensation and training. No kind of discrimination will be tolerated.

We expect Team Members to behave with courtesy and consideration when interacting with other Team Members and with people with whom the Company has business.

Braskem recognizes the human rights of all people as outlined in the United Nations' Universal Declaration on Human Rights and the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. The Company also supports all those internationally recognized human rights, including, but not limited to:

- The right to dignity and privacy;
- The right to life and freedom;
- Freedom of opinion and expression;
- Freedom to associate;
- The right to work and education;
- Freedom from slavery, forced and child labor.

4. RELATIONSHIP AND INTERACTIONS WITH STAKEHOLDERS

4.1 Shareholders and Investors

Braskem is committed to conducting its operations in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (maintaining accounting books and records) and corporate and governance rules, specifically in accordance with the applicable laws, listing rules of the stock exchanges and regulations of the respective regulatory entities where Braskem’s securities are traded.

Braskem is committed to providing all shareholders and other investors accurate, transparent, regular, and timely communication of information, simultaneously in all stock exchanges where the securities of the Company are traded and on the Investor Relations website, that allows them to appropriately monitor Braskem’s performance and trends.

4.2 Communities

Our commitment towards sustainable development also respects the communities where we operate, maximizing positive impacts and minimizing negative effects of our industrial operations.

Braskem understands its role in society and wants to promote human rights and contribute to local development of the regions where it operates, strengthening relationships with the community through dialogue and transparency.

As part of that commitment, Braskem may have private social investments (throughout Donations, Sponsorships or service providers) and volunteer actions with the main objective of empowering people to transform lives and contribute to positive social impact.

4.3. External Public

Braskem has official channels for communicating with the external public. Therefore, Team Members must speak out on behalf of the Company only when specifically authorized to do so.

Furthermore, when participating in any network or social media whose activity may be linked to Braskem’s name, Team Members must bear in mind that actions carried out on these channels may negatively affect the Company’s reputation and interests, therefore it is expected to take the following precautions:

- Remember that what you say, comment or publish is not anonymous.
- Do not share confidential data or any information that may violate Braskem’s rights.

4.4 Third Parties

Braskem expects that the Third Parties with which it has any kind of relationship, including the ones that act on its behalf, conduct their business in compliance with all applicable laws, including Applicable Anti-Corruption Laws, industry codes, and Braskem’s values of ethics, integrity, and transparency. Braskem must never utilize Third Parties to do anything prohibited by applicable law, this Code of Conduct, or the Company’s Guidance Materials, including offering, promising, inducing, giving or authorizing, directly or indirectly, an Improper Payment.

The acts of Third Parties can impact Braskem’s reputation, the quality of our products, and our legal liability. Therefore, Braskem Third Parties must:

- Have excellent conduct and be engaged in legitimate activities whose resources are from a legitimate genuine origin;
- Be subject to due diligence reviews as part of the retention and oversight process of Braskem;

- Have written agreements that oblige them to act according to our standards of ethics and integrity and to comply with all applicable laws;
- Be selected ethically, based on their qualifications to supply needed goods or services. No Third Party should ever be maintained as active in exchange or in reward for any improper advantage for Braskem.

All Team Members maintaining or overseeing Third Parties are responsible to ensure these individuals or entities understand Braskem’s standards, expectations, and applicable law. Team Members should never ignore information that suggests possible corruption by Third Parties.

Furthermore, Team Members must comply with laws and regulations governing Money Laundering and terrorist financing in all countries where they operate.

i
 For additional information on Third-Party Relationships, see Company Guidance Materials on Third Parties and Money Laundering.

4.5 Public Agents and Public Entities

Consistent with Braskem’s principles and its Global Anti-Corruption Policy, Team Members must interact with Public Agents in an ethical and transparent manner and in accordance with applicable laws, regulations, and best practices, regardless of the purpose of said interaction.

In many jurisdictions these interactions are restricted and/or highly regulated, like inspections or lobbying activities.

Make sure you consult and understand the Company’s Guidance Materials on interactions with Public Agents before any engagement with a Public Agent which, among other guidance, establishes that all interactions must be pre-approved and registered in the appropriate tool.

Facilitation Payments – sometimes referred to as “grease payments” – are small value payments made to a Public Agent to encourage, expedite, or secure the performance of an existing duty or obligation, such as the issuance of customs documents, or providing police protection or mail delivery. While not illegal in every instance, Facilitation Payments are expressly prohibited under many Applicable Anti-Corruption Laws and create significant corruption risk. For this reason, Braskem prohibits all forms of Facilitation Payments.

4.6 Related Parties

Braskem is committed to ensure that transactions between the Company and any Related Party are transparent, fair, and in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, the Company’s bylaws and its Transactions with Related Parties Policy.

Transactions with Related Parties include but are not limited to the transfer of funds, rendering of services, acquisition or sale of assets, assumption of obligations between the Company and a Related Party, regardless of whether a price is charged in return or not.

Braskem has a specific Policy on Related Party Transactions to ensure that they are carried out impartially, equitably and transparently, in the best interest of the Company and in accordance with best ESG practices, especially from a corporate governance perspective.

4.7 Free Competition

Braskem is committed to operating and transacting with Third Parties fairly and complying with all applicable anti-trust and competition laws.

Team Members are strictly prohibited from:

- Exchanging, discussing or entering into any kind of agreement in any format, with any competitor in regard to prices, bids or bid conditions, credit conditions, profit or profit margin, costs, business and investment plans, capacity levels, production, distribution, terms or conditions of sale or service, warranty terms, territories, customers or any other information that violates competition protection rules;
- Using any unfair advantage over a competitor through manipulation, concealment, abuse of privileged information, misrepresentation of material facts, interference with competitor supplier contracts, or any other unfair dealing;
- Attempting to coerce customers or distributors to stop acquiring products or services from competitors of Braskem or to make territorial restrictions that generate adverse effects on the market;

- Intentionally inducing products, prices, rebates, or services that can constitute a systematic unequal treatment that is not justified on commercial or market grounds; and
- Refusing contracts with customers or suppliers for unjustifiable reasons.

5. TRANSPARENCY PRACTICES

Braskem is committed to conduct transparent business, and the practices described here highlight this commitment.

5.1 Conflicts of Interest

You should care for Braskem’s interests, ensuring that your actions, in both your professional responsibilities and personal activities, do not create a real or perceived conflict with Braskem’s interests.

A Conflict of Interest occurs when your personal interests, or the interests of your Relative or Close Friend, can influence the decisions you make as a Team Member.

As a Team Member, you should:

- Make objective decisions, with Braskem’s business interests in mind;
- Separate personal and professional interests, and when this task gets difficult, reach out to your Leader or Compliance area for help;
- Recognize potential Conflicts of Interests and report them periodically or whenever a change occurs to the Compliance area.

You may consult the Compliance Area if, among other situations:

- You receive an invitation to speak on behalf of Braskem or to join another organization as a member, consultant, advisor, director or executive;
- Your Relative receives a personal benefit from a Third Party due to your position at Braskem;
- Your Relative works for or has an investment in a Third Party that has a relationship with Braskem;
- You understand that a decision you are making could look like a Conflict to another Team Member;
- You feel that you may be getting involved in a potential Conflict of Interest;
- You are not sure if a situation you are involved in is a potential Conflict or can be perceived as one.

! Be sure that all your personal relationships (including the ones with Relatives or Close Friends) do not interfere in your professional judgments and decisions. You should report these relationships to the Compliance Area if you think there could be a potential conflict.

Disclosing a potential conflict protects Braskem and you, the Team Member.

For more information, see Company Guidance Materials on Conflicts of Interest

5.2 Business Courtesies

Business Courtesies are very common in certain cultures. The giving or receiving of reasonable and customary Business Courtesies is allowed when they do not create the appearance of impropriety or Conflict of Interest and when they comply with the Company’s Guidance Materials and applicable laws. Business Courtesies must not be frequent and should be modest according to local standards. They are intended to serve legitimate business purposes and must not be provided to obtain an unfair advantage or to obtain/retain business.

! Any payment or provision of anything of value to any Public Agent or any other person or entity, including any entertainment, hospitality, travel, or gifts of significant value, could be considered an Improper Payment and/or a violation of Applicable Anti-Corruption Laws. Business Courtesies might be provided to Public Agents in very specific circumstances. Some scenarios may also require that the provision of such Business Courtesies is expressly stated in a Formal Agreement. All such instances must be pre-approved and must be in accordance with the law, and Company Guidance Materials.

As a Team Member you must not:

- Solicit, directly or indirectly, anything of value, including Extravagant or Lavish Business Courtesies; and
- Provide Extravagant, Lavish or frequent Business Courtesies, neither for private individual nor for Public Agents.

All Team Members must declare an offered or received courtesy as indicted in the Company’s Guidance Materials.

For any questions related to courtesies, consult the Compliance team for guidance.

! Third Parties acting on behalf of Braskem should also be made aware of such prohibited practices.

i For more information, see Company Guidance Materials on Business Courtesies.

Any gifts that deviate from the limits or guidelines provided by the Company must be returned. If an immediate return of the item(s) is not possible, a formal return shall be attempted and if unsuccessful, the item(s) may be given to the Compliance Area for charitable disposition or other disposition as the Company, in its sole discretion, believes appropriate.

5.3 Donations and Sponsorships

As part of Braskem commitment to the betterment of the communities in which we live and work, Braskem provides Donations and Sponsorships to entities, initiatives and events aligned with Braskem principles. These Donations and Sponsorships must be consistent with Braskem’s values and are made where permissible by local law, according to Company Guidance Materials.

Donations must be related to the performance of the Company’s activities or humanitarian causes, must give a clear and verifiable benefit to a specific stakeholder, but need not necessarily provide a direct benefit to the Company.

The Company has a process established to provide Donations and Sponsorships in which such requests must be submitted through appropriate Braskem tools or website.

Braskem prohibits any Donations or Sponsorships made for the purpose of obtaining or retaining any improper advantage for Braskem or any of its Team Members.

i For additional information, see the Company’s Guidance Materials on Sponsorships and Donations.

5.4 Political Contributions

Political Contributions include, but are not limited to, monetary contributions, or the provisions of goods or services (e.g., offering transportation, meeting or facilities space, printing or other office services) to political parties, candidates, or their staff.

! Braskem does not provide Political Contributions.

Thus, Team Members are prohibited from promising, offering, authorizing, or giving, directly or indirectly, Political Contributions, to political parties or candidates for public offices with Braskem’s resources or on behalf of Braskem.

5.5 Books and Records

Braskem is committed to maintain accurate books and records following principles and rules of good governance, legal and regulatory requirements, and applicable regulations and standards – including tax compliance and Anti-Corruption Laws and listing rules of the exchanges where the Company’s securities are traded.

We must provide all shareholders, investors and markets where the securities of the Company are traded accurate, transparent, regular, and timely communication of information.

As a Team Member, you should be mindful of this topic in the performance of your job tasks, as it directly contributes to our positive image and reputation.

For more detailed and updated information on Braskem, check our Investor Relations website.

5.6 Internal Controls

The Company maintains a system of internal controls necessary to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of its financial reporting and statements for external purposes, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and any other criteria applicable to such statements. Braskem’s internal controls:

- Ensure the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and assets of the Company;
- Provide reasonable assurance that transactions are executed in accordance with management’s general or specific authorization; and
- Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of the Company’s assets.

5.7 Money Laundering Prevention and Counter-Terrorism Financing

Braskem does not tolerate money laundering and therefore complies with all applicable laws, regulations, and standards, including those that address Money Laundering and terrorist financing in all countries where we operate.

Braskem should only conduct business with reputable Third Parties, who are engaged in legitimate activities and whose resources are from a legitimate genuine origin.

5.8 Trade Controls

Braskem conducts business globally, and therefore must comply with applicable legislation in all countries where it operates. These legislations may regulate import and export controls, economic restrictions and assessments, customs requirements, and other trade controls.

If you, as a Braskem Member, conduct or support international transactions, you must be aware of such provisions and seek support from the Compliance area when you have questions or identify suspicious facts related to an operation.

For additional information about our practices related to Trade Controls, please see the Company’s Guidance Materials.

6. VIOLATIONS

Failing to comply with this Code of Conduct, applicable laws, or any of the Company's Guidance Materials can result in potentially severe consequences, including loss of business, restrictions on doing business (such as sanctions, suspension or debarment from bidding), civil and/ or criminal liability, monetary fines, damage to the Company's reputation, or even the dissolution of Braskem.

As a Team Member, you are expected to:

- Ask questions or immediately report – in good faith – any concerns or breaches of Applicable Anti-Corruption Laws and/or Company Guidance Materials, including this Policy that you may witness or know of under penalty of disciplinary action if you fail to do so.
- Encourage your colleagues, business partners and people affected by our activities or products to raise complaints and grievances about any potential violation of the law or breach of our Code of Conduct.

If you are a Leader, you should continually encourage your Team Members to report potential violations to the Ethics Line.

You should know:

- All known violations or received allegations are independently investigated in a timely manner, maintaining confidentiality and in accordance with applicable law;
- The use of an independent channel, like Braskem's Ethics Line, guarantees whistleblower anonymity;
- Retaliation is not tolerated and can lead to disciplinary actions, as can any attempt to prevent, obstruct or deter Team Members in their efforts to report what they believe to be a violation of this Code of Conduct.
- Nothing in the Company's Guidance Materials, including this Code of Conduct, prohibits Team Members from reporting any concern or illegal activity to the appropriate regulatory authorities.
- Team Members and Third Parties could be subject to civil and criminal liability, fines, and/or imprisonment. In addition, Team Members who violate the provisions of this Code of Conduct, breach the law or the Company's Guidance Materials, or allow a Team Member of his/her team to do so, or knows of any breach and fails to report it, are subject to appropriate disciplinary action, including possible termination of employment or affiliation with Braskem.

To facilitate reporting, Braskem maintains the following reporting outlets:

- Ethics Line Channel is available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, to internal Team Members and to the external public (Third Parties and society in general) either by phone or internet, allowing individuals the option to make an anonymous report:

*Free phone support available during business hours and free phone support received by electronic recording outside of business hours.

Toll free calls subject to local carrier restrictions.

- Any member of the Compliance Area

Depending on the nature of the breach, there may be obligation to report the breach to authorities or Third Parties by law, as Braskem may not omit such reports under penalty of further sanctions.

We expect our business partners to apply the principles presented here and offer our support in their implementation of our Code where needed.

GLOSSARY

“Applicable Anti-Corruption Laws”: All applicable domestic and international anti-corruption laws and regulations, including, but not limited to, Brazilian bribery and corruption laws, including Brazil’s Anti-Corruption Law (Law No. 12.846), the Mexican Anticorruption National System (“SNA”), the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (“FCPA”) of the United States, and the Bribery Act of the United Kingdom, and similar laws that apply in the countries in which the Company operates.

“Braskem” or “Company”: Braskem S.A. and all its Controlled Entities in Brazil and abroad.

Significant Influence can be obtained by means of a corporate stake, bylaws provisions, or shareholders’ agreement. When an investor maintains, directly or indirectly, twenty percent or more of the voting rights in an investee, it is presumed that they hold material influence, unless otherwise clearly demonstrated. On the other hand, if an investor holds, directly or indirectly, less than twenty percent of voting rights in an investee, it is presumed they do not hold influence. Significant influence by an investor is usually evidenced by one or more of the following: (a) representation on the board of directors or board of executive officers of the investee; (b) participation in the development of policies, including in decisions on dividends and other distributions; (c) material operations between the investor and investee; (d) exchange of officers or managers; (e) provision of key technical information.
