2024 Program Guide for Tenth District Financial Institutions

2024 Program Guide for Tenth District Financial Institutions

Community and regional banks dominate the banking landscape in the Federal Reserve's Tenth District. They play a major role in the District's economy by financing the needs of small business owners, farmers and consumers. This 2024 Program Guide for Tenth District Financial Institutions provides an overview of programs and resources offered by the Kansas City Fed and the Federal Reserve System aimed at supporting the District's banks and the communities they serve. Detailed information is available at KansasCityFed.org.

We look forward to working with you in 2024.

Investment Connection

Potential funders are invited to learn about new and existing Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) related proposals for community and economic development projects in their market. In a format similar to “Shark Tank,” Investment Connection presenters share information about their organization and proposal, followed by time for questions from potential funders.

This efficient way to learn about these community and economic development organizations has generated more than $65 million in funding and numerous hours of Community Development Service for proposals ranging from $25,000 to $2.5 million, covering single-community developments to statewide efforts. You can also find proposals online.

Target audiences: CRA officers and key staff from banks and financial institutions, including foundations and local, state and federal government.

Interagency CRA Roundtables and Training Seminars

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City conducts Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) roundtables and training seminars in partnership with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency to provide bankers with information about new tools and information related to community development lending, investments and services.

Target audiences: CRA and compliance officers of regulated financial institutions are encouraged to attend.

For information about event dates and locations, visit the Community Development Investments tab at KansasCityFed.org or contact Ariel.Cisneros@kc.frb.org

Women in Banking Forum

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, in partnership with the Oklahoma Bankers Association and the Community Bankers Association of Oklahoma, will host its Women in Banking Forum in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. The Forum is designed to provide senior level or high potential middle management women bankers with industry and leadership development knowledge that will enhance their careers and networks.
