EASY TO START

Easy Pairing

With SoftAP enabled, connect the USB device to the LG display having webOS Signage v4.1 or greater for auto pairing, and then remove the device. Now these two are ready to use together! Up to four One:Quick Share USB devices can be paired with one LG display at the same time.

Embedded Wi-Fi

By enabling the SoftAP function in LG display menu settings, the USB device can easily be auto-paired with the screen.

SIMPLE TO USE

Plug and Play

After pairing with the LG display, simply plug the USB device into your PC or Mac computer.* It's that easy to share your screen!

Wireless Screen Share with One Click

Different button presses on the USB device allow multiple interaction options including sharing one screen, changing to share a different screen or showing up to 4 computer screens at once on the LG display.

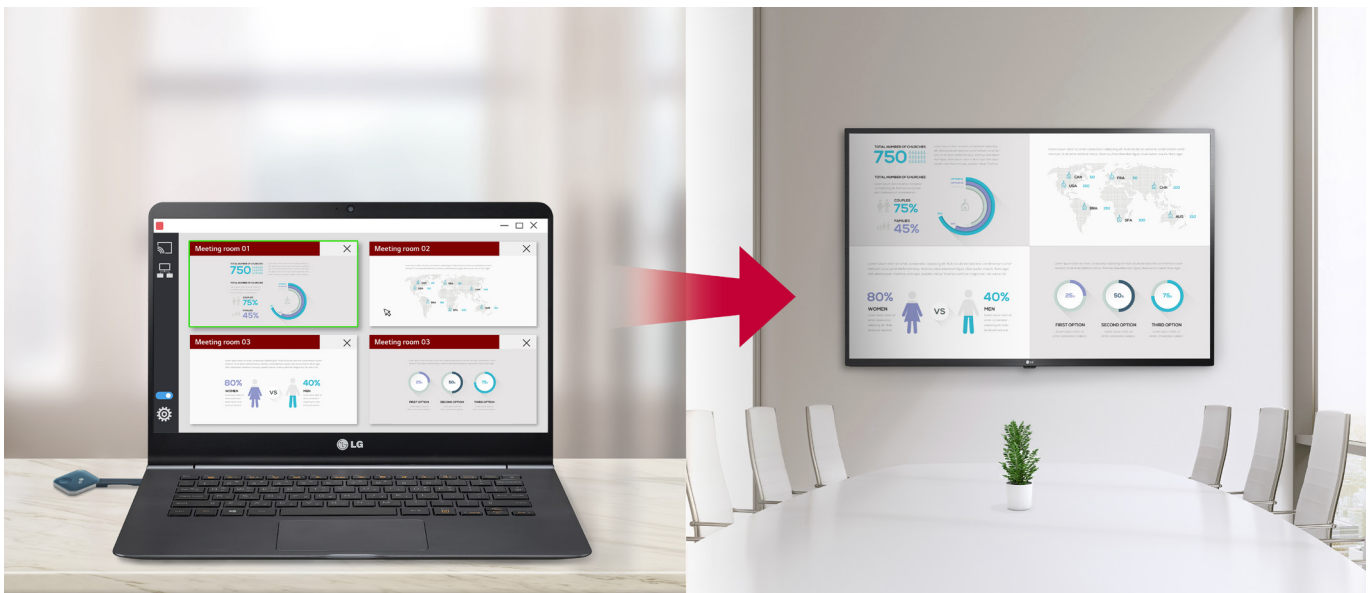

* The very first use, the USB device will install a compact One:Quick Share monitoring app once connected.

VALUE ADDED FEATURES

Increased Control with webOS

Once connected, the USB device allows basic controls for the LG display (e.g., volume, picture mode, auto brightness, etc.) to be adjusted from the computer without using the remote control. Enabling Office Meeting Mode in the EZ Setting of the LG display menu allows even more control of relevant tasks like presentation settings.

Screen Manager

A meeting organizer with admin privileges can manage screens shared on the LG display. You can change the order of the split screens, stop screen sharing, or even select a single screen to be displayed among other connected screens.
