22 2022-23 Overview

“We are committed to RGC being well prepared to lead the future of responsible gambling. By proactively addressing the emerging trends facing the gambling industry we can ensure the right safeguards are in place for players and communities everywhere gambling exists.”

SHELLEY WHITE
CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

People-Centred Prevention.

The way forward.

Every day, RGC demonstrates its mission: “a world where gambling never comes at a human cost.” This year the Board of Directors and the organization’s 100+ employees delivered on its purpose in many innovative and impactful ways. We believe that research and innovation are essential to address the ever-changing landscape of the gambling industry.

Technological advancements, legislative changes, and consumer interest are driving the expansion of igaming and sports betting with over 1.5 million registered players in Ontario. Both igaming and sports betting have unique characteristics that require innovative responsible gambling solutions. Understanding the normalization of sports betting, along with its risks, this year RGC made it a priority to increase our efforts in prevention programming specific to single-event sports betting. To achieve this, RGC initiated a global advertising and marketing research study, looking at leading practices to inform standards and practices looked at by key decision makers. We also developed new public information and education programs for youth, young adults, and ethno cultural communities to emphasize the importance of using igaming RG tools.

RG Check conducted the first round of accreditations with Ontario’s newly licensed igaming operators, providing RGC and the industry operators with valuable insights into the strengths of the operators’ RG strategies and programs. This also provided the opportunity to identify where improvements are required to optimize consumer protection.

In October, RGC launched an engaging public service announcement on broadcast (TV and radio) throughout Canada to inform Canadians about the risks of igaming and sports betting. This was a huge success for RGC as the ad garnered over 100 million impressions!

RGC’s strongly believes in and is committed to equity, diversity, inclusion and anti-racism. It is imperative to the organization that we are providing strong EDIA leadership in order to create an inclusive culture of belonging for everyone associated with RGC. It is also crucial to us that we are developing and implementing harm prevention programs and services that are culturally sensitive, in order to treat people with dignity, as well as provide them with a meaningful experience. With the assistance of Diversio, this year RGC has conducted its second EDI survey. The Board and employees achieved excellent improvements in its inclusion scores which are higher than the industry average. RGC will continue to strive for excellence in its EDIA initiatives and integrate EDIA into everything that we do.

RGC’s Board of Directors takes good governance seriously. The Board’s annual effectiveness survey concluded that it is a high functioning board with strong leadership. The Board is collaborative, engaged, informed, and valued. As a result, the organization continues to grow, diversify and strengthen its sustainability, as it makes tremendous progress on achieving its strategic priorities.

RGC looks forward to continuing to work with the industry and individuals, within Canada and globally, to provide them with humanitarian, innovative and evidence-based information and solutions, to fulfill our mission of “a world where gambling never comes at a human cost”.

RG Plus Research and Advisory: Insights that fuel action

RG Plus supports regulators, operators and industry decision-makers to identify, implement, and evaluate leading RG practices.

Through collaborations with key stakeholders, as well as public health organizations and other researchers, we conduct research and provide guidance on problem gambling prevention and harm minimization to strengthen policy and practice across Canada and around the world.

In 2022-23 RG+ continued to advance responsible gambling efforts with innovative and focused initiatives:

Collaborations to Support Vulnerable Populations

Newcomers to Canada are at increased risk of experiencing gambling-related harms because of unique challenges they face when establishing themselves in a new country, such as the ease of access to gambling opportunities and the sense of belonging that can be found in casinos and through sports betting.

- ◆ RGC received a grant from Canadian Association of Mental Health (CAMH) to update a problem gambling awareness resource kit for newcomers to Canada, their families and professionals working with them, with the goal of preventing the development of problematic gambling behaviours amongst Chinese, Punjabi and Vietnamese communities.
- ◆ RGC collaborated with community organization, COSTI, to update the resource kit and translate it into four languages to provide accessibility across a diversity of communities.

Community Engagement: Emerging Areas of Need in Digital Wellbeing and Gambling

- ◆ In support of Playtech's Sustainability Strategy, RGC conducted community engagement activities to identify emerging areas of need around mental health and healthy online behaviours.
- ◆ Community consultations were conducted with players with lived experience of problem gambling as well as international stakeholders working in the areas of mental health, digital wellbeing and safer gambling.
- ◆ The project identified areas of need as the rapid increase in the ease of access and availability of online gambling, the influx of gambling advertising, and the lack of awareness of gambling-related harms.
- ◆ Recommendations for further engagement activities include bolstering education on the signs of harms for new players; partnering with influential figures who can speak about their lived experience of gambling harms; enhancing limit-setting features to protect players in the context of rapidly increasing availability of online gambling; and developing a comprehensive evidence base around emerging risky online behaviours. Gambling Marketing and Advertising Study- Phase 1

Flutter™

In 2022, Flutter Entertainment provided independent research funding to RGC to support first-of-its-kind baseline research that will inform global marketing and advertising standards in gambling for operators and regulators.

- ◆ In response to growing interest in developing new measures to enhance harm prevention efforts pertaining to the influence of marketing and advertising on gamblers, RGC began Phase I of a 3-part project to develop a responsible gambling marketing and advertising framework for operators and regulators.
- ◆ Phase I included key informant interviews with international operators and regulators and a research evidence review.
- ◆ The interviews and evidence review identified key areas of concern, including: the potential for illegal operators to take advantage of increased gambling marketing and advertising regulations on legal operators; use of personal data to microtarget potentially vulnerable populations; and regulations not keeping pace with the changing landscape of online gambling and online gambling marketing and advertising, particularly through social media. Insights into Prevention Programs for Chinese, South Asian and Indigenous Youth and Young Adults

- ◆ Research shows that youth and young adults, as well Ontarians of Chinese, South Asian and Indigenous descent, are particularly vulnerable to experiencing gambling problems with high-risk gambling behaviours being associated with negative physical and mental health outcomes.
- ◆ The RGC team conducted a survey of 605 youth and young adults of Chinese, South Asian and Indigenous descent to explore gambling motivations, gambling behaviors, awareness of gambling-related advertisements, and preferred support tools and messaging to develop informed and culturally sensitive outreach and programming for these key audiences.
- ◆ More than three-quarters of young adult respondents (18-24 years of age) identified engaging in high-risk gambling behaviours.
- ◆ Websites were identified as the most helpful resource for gambling support across all three ethnocultural communities.
- ◆ The project found that targeted messages with a neutral tone are most effective at reaching specific audiences, suggesting that ethnocultural differences should be taken into consideration when developing programs to support young people.

RGC Prevention Programs:

Prevention education that inspires real change

For over 20 years RGC has created innovative and impactful problem gambling prevention programs that inform and inspire real change. Backed by 40 years of leadership experience, our programs are evidence-based and cross the spectrum of prevention education.

Every year, thanks to the financial support of the Ontario Ministry of Health, RGC delivers prevention programming to the people of Ontario, in schools, on university and college campuses or at post-secondary institutions, in communities and online. All programs are evidence-based and created to reflect the unique prevention needs of the population.

RGC was proud to partner with Ontario organizations to enhance harm minimization efforts in vulnerable populations

RGC is committed to exploring opportunities to build new relationships and focus on identified high-risk populations through strategic partnerships and collaboration with community stakeholders.

Our efforts enable a greater understanding of emerging community needs and trends, assist in developing targeted strategies that are inclusive and responsive, and expand the delivery and impact of enhanced problem gambling prevention, education and direct service programs.

In addition to our work with the community, RGC continues to provide prevention education responsive to evolving market needs. Accomplishments from 2022-23 include:

◆ RGC x SOCH Mental Health Project

- This South Asian Problem Gambling Pilot Project was implemented through a partnership with SOCH Mental Health to increase awareness of gambling harms. Addressing stigma and increasing receptivity to accessing problem gambling support, we reached over 1,000+ people in the Punjabi community through in-person community engagement activities at South Asian places of worship (Gurdwaras and Sikh temples). We reached an additional 32,419 people through radio, television, newspaper, and a strong social media presence.

◆ Two Funded Community Projects

• RGC x PEAPN Partnership funded through Ministry of Seniors and Accessibility

RGC and Peel Elder Abuse Prevention Network (PEAPN) collaborated to create a poster and educational brochure campaign raising awareness and socializing safer play guidelines for Older Adults, and those who provide services, support and care to Seniors. A brochure provides further detail and information about safer gambling tips, and resources for those who may wish to access support for their gambling behaviours. During Seniors Month in June 2023, we offered public education workshops facilitated by RGC to highlight the unique challenges faced by Older Adults experiencing gambling harms, prevention best practices, and methods to open up conversation in the Older Adult population.

• RGC x COSTI Newcomer Program Gambling Facilitators' Resource Guide funded through CAMH

RGC and COSTI Immigrant Services partnered to revise and expand on a previous resource kit developed in 2005 entitled "New Beginnings: Problem Gambling Awareness Kit for Newcomers in Ethnocultural Communities". This prevention strategy is targeted to professionals who work with newcomers in ethnocultural communities and consists of a toolkit that includes an animated video, facilitators' guide, and English as a Second Language learning exercises. This resource kit for Ontario Chinese, Punjabi and Vietnamese newcomers over the age of 18 can be used by newcomers to Canada, their families, and professionals working with newcomers to prevent the development of problematic gambling behaviors among this high-risk group.

PlaySmart Centres:

Expanding our reach, improving our access

PlaySmart Centres (PSC) continue to operate in 67 land-based gambling venues across Ontario, with just over 90 staff supporting player and communities. PSCs are designated spaces where players can go to get facts, tools and advice about gambling. Our team of professionally trained staff are onsite to answer questions and provide immediate support to players when needed.

Operated by the RGC, the Centres are located at land-based casinos and Charitable Gaming Centres across Ontario and are staffed by RGC employees. With Ontario Lottery and Gaming (OLG) Corporation's continued partnership and financial commitment, we're proud to say that PSC has supported a total of 288,606 visitors across the province.

“ We know that questions and feelings tend to arise after someone makes a decision to self-exclude, and now we can extend our support through the Check-in Call service; where people can ask questions, affirm their decision to take a break, and learn about other support resources. Our staff delivering this service all have special training in telephone support ranging from information and referral services to responding to crisis and distress. People have expressed their appreciation and felt supported by receiving a call from our team. ”

LORELLE MULLER LUMSDEN
DIRECTOR, PLAYSMART CENTRE.

2022-23 highlights include:

141,742 visitors accessed the PSC to learn about how games and gambling work and ways to keep their play fun and sustainable. When players have the information they need to make informed choices about their play, it can help create a safer and more enjoyable experience for everyone.

5,236 visitors received support and assistance from our PSC staff when they needed it most. Staff create a safe and non-judgmental space where all visitors feel comfortable seeking help and support.

65,929 visitors participated in PSC's fun, engaging and educational events. Participants received quick gambling facts and tips so they can be armed with the information they need to keep their play safer. This year, PSC delivered its first digital-based educational event called, Bet On Your Knowledge gaining the most participation from young adult players.

This past year PSC team had 75,699 conversations with gaming staff.
