I suspect that they had to go to the office next door...

Ok, hilarious. I wonder where they had to go to find this options expert since it took them 3+ months? :-)

From talking to Van Anthony last week, my impression is that they have not done any analysis yet, but have only found us an expert on options trading, Stuart Mayhew. I'll let you know about the time of the call.

Hi Simona,

I returned from the field today (good timing). I have to participate in a conference call on Wednesday or Thursday morning (waiting to finalize date) but I am available in the afternoon Tuesday through Friday and Friday morning. I am very interested to hear the OEA's findings so let me know if that works for you.

Peter

OEA finally responded that they want to talk next week. Are you available? Meaghan and I can do it at any time starting with Tuesday afternoon and through the rest of the week. Thanks!
