Governor

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

MICHAEL L. PARSON (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 57th Governor on June 1, 2018, by Missouri Supreme Court Judge Mary R. Russell. He was elected in November 2020 and sworn into a full term by Judge Sarah A. Castle at the 2021 Bicentennial Inauguration.

Parson came into the role of governor with a lifelong commitment to serving others and more than 30 years of experience in public service.

He previously served as the 47th lieutenant governor of Missouri from 2017–2018. He was elected lieutenant governor after claiming victory in 110 of Missouri's 114 counties and receiving the most votes of any lieutenant governor in Missouri history.

Governor Parson also served six years in the U.S. Army and as the sheriff of Polk County from 1993–2005. He served in the Missouri House of Representatives from 2005–2011 and in the Missouri Senate from 2011–2017.

As a member of Missouri's General Assembly, Parson sponsored and co-sponsored several landmark pieces of legislation, including Missouri's Castle Doctrine, which strengthened Second Amendment rights, and the Missouri Farming Rights Amendment, a piece of legislation that changed the Missouri Constitution to guarantee all Missourians the right to farm and ranch.

From day one, workforce development and infrastructure have been major priorities for Governor Parson. He and his administration have achieved historic bipartisan progress on both issues through programs like Missouri One Start, Fast Track, MoExcels and the transportation cost-share program.

The governor's proposal to improve economic and workforce development through a reorganization of state government was overwhelmingly supported by the General Assembly, and 100 of Missouri's poorest bridges were repaired or rehabilitated in just over one year through his Focus on Bridges program. In all, the program will repair or replace 250 bridges throughout the state.

Under Governor Parson's leadership, Missouri has experienced a booming economy with record low unemployment, high wage growth, and billions of dollars in business and infrastructure investments. In 2018, he signed the largest income tax cut in Missouri history, and has continuously worked with the General Assembly to pass fiscally responsible and conservative budgets.

Governor Parson has also led Missouri through several major crises, including historic droughts, flooding, tornadoes, civil unrest and the recent COVID-19 pandemic. He and his administration have worked nonstop to take a balanced approach, fight the virus and keep Missourians as safe as possible. Thanks to these efforts, Missouri has outperformed projections for both COVID-19 and the economy, and continues to meet each challenge head on.

Governor Parson and First Lady Teresa live in Bolivar. Together, they have two grown children and six grandchildren. He was raised on a farm in Hickory County and graduated from Wheatland High School in Wheatland, Missouri. He is a small-business owner and a third-generation farmer who currently owns and operates a cow and calf operation near Bolivar.

Qualifications

The chief executive officer of the state of Missouri must be at least 30 years old, a U.S. citizen for at least 15 years and a resident of Missouri for at least 10 years before being elected governor.

The governor is elected to a four-year term during the same year as a presidential election and may seek re-election to a second four-year term. No person may hold the office for more than two terms.

Responsibilities

The governor appoints the members of all boards and commissions, all department heads in state government and fills all vacancies in public offices unless otherwise provided by law. The board members of Missouri's state universities and colleges are appointed by the governor. The governor also selects the members of the Supreme and Appellate Courts of Missouri from names submitted by the Appellate Judicial Commission. The governor appoints members to certain election boards, the Kansas City police board and the Board of Probation and Parole. Most appointments require the advice and consent of the Senate.

The governor addresses the General Assembly on the State of the State and recommends changes or other actions to be taken. A budget is submitted by the governor to the General Assembly within 30 days after the General Assembly convenes. The budget contains the governor's estimates of available state revenues and an itemized plan for proposed expenditures.

All bills passed by both houses of the legislature are submitted to the governor for consideration. The governor must return the legislation to the house of its inception within 15 days after receiving it. The governor may either approve a bill, making it law, or return it to the legislature with objections. When the legislature is adjourned, the governor has 45 days in which to consider a bill.

The governor may object to one or more items or portions of items of an appropriations bill while approving other items or portions of the appropriations bill. Upon signing the appropriations bill, appended to it is a statement of the items or portions of items to which there are objections, and such items or portions will not take effect. The governor may control the rate of expenditure in other areas whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based.

Additional Duties and Powers

The governor performs many other duties assigned by the constitution, statute or custom. For example, the governor issues writs of election to fill vacancies in either house of the General Assembly. The governor also has the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, but this does not include the power to parole.

In addition to other duties, the governor is a member of a number of boards and commissions, such as the Board of Public Buildings and the State Board of Fund Commissioners.

Moreover, the governor is the conservator of peace throughout Missouri and is commander-in-chief of the state's militia. The militia may be called out to execute laws, suppress threats of danger to the state and prevent and repel invasion.

Missouri's First Lady

As the wife of Missouri's 57th Governor Mike Parson, Teresa Parson brings to her role as first lady the experience of being a mother, grandmother, businesswoman, volunteer and advocate. After working 40 years in the banking industry, Teresa retired to continue serving her community. During her career, she has served on the boards of the 30th Circuit Juvenile Detention Center, A+ Program, Industrial Development Authority, Bolivar Educational Advancement Foundation and Bolivar Chamber of Commerce, and has volunteered for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. The first lady currently serves as a board member on the Missouri State Fair Foundation, which is dedicated to cultivating the future of agriculture through preservation and education.

Like her husband, First Lady Parson has a strong commitment to education. She and Governor Parson work with at-risk high schoolers as co-chairs of the board of directors for Jobs for America's Graduates-Missouri, Inc. (JAG-Missouri). Together they highlight the importance of education to the next generation of leaders, as well as financial literacy and money management. The first lady is also a dedicated advocate for special-needs children, making Missourians more aware of the role these children can play in society when given the opportunities.

During her first year as first lady, she responded to a request from the Big Brothers Big Sisters organization and worked with Second Lady Claudia Kehoe to reinstate the Missouri Mentorship Initiative, allowing 300 Missouri state employees to mentor students.

As first lady, Teresa has made the Governor's Mansion, which she calls the People's House, more accessible to the public through a variety of events and special occasions.

First Lady Parson is the proud mother of two children and six grandchildren. When in her hometown of Bolivar, where she grew up on a cattle farm with her three brothers, the first lady spends time with her lifelong friends and worships as a member at the First Baptist Church.

Missouri Governor's Mansion

The Missouri Governor's Mansion, which celebrated its 150th anniversary in 2021, serves as the official residence of Gov. Mike Parson and First Lady Teresa Parson. Upon moving into the mansion on June 1, 2018, the First Family made it a priority to bring greater exposure of the "People's House" to all Missourians. This includes hosting new public events at the mansion such as the Parson Family Fall Festival and the Roots and Blossoms Garden Party, as well as first-time events for groups such as Missouri faith leaders and wounded state law enforcement officers and their spouses. The governor and first lady extend an invitation to all Missourians to tour the People's House, which hosts approximately 60,000 visitors each year.

First occupied by Gov. G. Gratz Brown and his family in 1872, this stately three-story building is one of the oldest, most beautifully restored governors' homes in the United States. Built and finished in the Renaissance Revival style, the entry consists of a magnificent portico with four stately pink granite columns. A Victorian atmosphere greets visitors as they enter the great hall with its 17-foot ceilings, a rare freestanding staircase crafted from solid walnut and one of the best collections of period furnishings in the country. Portraits of Missouri's First Ladies are featured throughout the mansion, along with loaned works of art created by world-famous Missourian George Caleb Bingham. Designed by George Ingham Barnett of St. Louis, the mansion is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Since moving into the mansion, Governor and First Lady Parson have introduced unique ways to educate Missouri's children about the People's House, including the creation of Mr. Buzzaround, the Mansion Mascot. Representing the state insect, the honey bee, Mr. Buzzaround plays a key role in a new children's coloring book about the People's House and hosts detailed tours of each room in the mansion on social media.

<sup>1</sup>At the time of the elections of McNair, Bates and Williams, and of the first election of Miller in 1825, there were no organized political parties in Missouri. Individual popularity prevailed. All called themselves Jeffersonian Republicans, or what now are called Democrats.

<sup>2</sup>Marmaduke was elected Lt. Governor in 1840. Upon the death of Governor Thomas Reynolds in February 1844, Marmaduke became governor. He served the remainder of that year, because John Cummins Edwards was elected.

<sup>3</sup>Soon after Polk was inaugurated, the Legislature convened and elected him by 101 votes to be a U.S. Senator. He resigned to take that office in February 1857. His occupancy of the governor's office was shorter than any other governor of Missouri.

<sup>4</sup>Jackson was Lt. Gov. under Polk and became acting governor after Polk resigned in February 1857. He served until October of that year when Robert Stewart took office. Stewart was elected at a special election in August 1857.

Missouri State Capitol

State government in Missouri is centered in the state's beautiful domed Capitol, dominating the bluffs of the Missouri River in Jefferson City.

The dome, rising 238 feet above ground level and topped by a bronze statue of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, is the first view of Jefferson City for travelers arriving from the north. The structure is Jefferson City's leading tourist attraction and is a mecca for school groups who arrive by busloads, particularly during General Assembly sessions when they fill the galleries to watch the Senate and House of Representatives in action.

In addition to housing the two legislative bodies, the Capitol provides office space for the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, state auditor and some administrative agencies. The structure is also notable for its architectural features, including its eight 48-foot columns on the south portico and six 48-foot columns on the north side; its 30-foot-wide grand stairway and its bronze front doors, each 13-by-18 feet, among the largest cast since the Roman era.

The Capitol's first floor features the State Museum. Outstanding paintings, pediments and friezes decorate the Capitol interior. Of historical significance is a series of Thomas Hart Benton murals in the House Lounge.

Statuary is a prominent feature of the Capitol grounds. Heroic bronze figures depicting Missouri's two great rivers, the Mississippi and Missouri, and a 13-foot statue of Thomas Jefferson dominate the south entrance. A bronze relief depicting the signing of the Louisiana Purchase by Livingston, Monroe and Marbois and the Fountain of the Centaurs are the most outstanding features on the north grounds.

The present Capitol, completed in 1917 and dedicated in 1924, is the fourth Capitol in Jefferson City. Before the seat of government was moved to Jefferson City, the functions of Missouri territorial government were based in the Mansion House, a hotel in St. Louis, and later at the Missouri Hotel, also in St. Louis. The upper story of a mercantile store in St. Charles was designated as temporary capital of the state in 1821 and remained the seat of government until 1826 when Jefferson City became the permanent capital city. The first Capitol in Jefferson City was located on land now occupied by the Governor's Mansion. It burned in 1837, apparently after some hot coals fell out of one of its fireplaces. A second structure, completed in 1840 and expanded in 1887–88 burned when the dome was struck by lightning on Feb. 5, 1911. A temporary Capitol made of lathe and stucco was erected in an area to the east of the present building and was used from 1912 to 1917.

The present Capitol was constructed for $4,215,000, including site and furnishings. It is five stories high, 437 feet long, 300 feet wide in the center and 200 feet wide in the wings. The dome is 238 feet high and the height of the wings is 88 feet. It includes over 650,000 square feet of floor space.

Mike Kehoe

Lieutenant Governor

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

MIKE KEHOE (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 48th Lieutenant Governor on June 18, 2018, after being appointed to the position by Gov. Mike Parson. He was elected by Missourians to a full term on Nov. 3, 2020.

From very humble beginnings, through hard work, determination, and the influence of his mother and the help of his mentor, Kehoe went on to become a successful businessman, a husband, and a father, before running for office.

Kehoe was born and raised in North St. Louis City by a single mother of six children. His mother worked three jobs to support the family, while Kehoe and his siblings also went to work to help buy groceries and pay the bills. At 15, Kehoe started washing cars for Dave Sinclair Ford and worked his way into sales management by his early twenties.

When he was 25, Kehoe was tasked with moving to Linn, Missouri, to help revive a struggling van conversion and ambulance manufacturing company. Kehoe purchased the company, and during his time leading Osage Industries, he expanded sales across the nation and created dozens of new jobs.

In 1992, he purchased the Ford and Lincoln-Mercury franchises in Jefferson City, which he owned and operated as 'Mike Kehoe Ford-Lincoln' as one of the youngest Ford dealers in the nation until 2011.

In 2005, Kehoe was appointed by Governor Blunt to serve on the Missouri Highway and Transportation Commission, and in 2009 was elected chair.

In 2010, Kehoe was elected to the Missouri Senate to represent the Sixth Senatorial District covering seven mid-Missouri counties: Cole, Gasconade, Maries, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Osage. He was re-elected in 2014 and served as the assistant majority floor leader and the majority floor leader.

As lieutenant governor, Kehoe serves as the ex officio president of the Missouri Senate and serves as the state's advocate for seniors and veterans. He also oversees the Missouri Arts Council and the Buy Missouri Program, an economic development initiative created to actively promote Missouri manufacturers and businesses. Under his leadership, the Buy Missouri program has grown to more than 500 members.

As lieutenant governor, Kehoe is a member of several boards and commissions, including the Missouri Development Finance Board, the Missouri Housing Development Commission, and the Missouri Tourism Commission. Lieutenant Governor Kehoe chairs the Missouri Food, Beverage, and Forest Manufacturing Products Task Force, working to promote and grow Missouri's agriculture industry.

Mike has been honored by the Missouri Cattlemen's Association, the Missouri Association of Electric Cooperatives, and many others for his legislative accomplishments, including being named the Statesman of the Year Award for his work in the Missouri Senate as floor leader. As a businessman, he received the Time Magazine Quality Dealer Award, Ford's President Award, and was inducted into the Automotive Hall of Fame.

Lieutenant Governor Kehoe and his wife, Claudia, have called mid-Missouri home for more than 30 years and are the proud parents of four children. Mike and Claudia are first-generation farmers with a beef cattle production business on the family farm in Phelps and Pulaski Counties. Lieutenant Governor Kehoe remains a small businessman at heart, never forgetting the lessons learned from years of hard work Dave Sinclair Ford, Osage Industries and Mike Kehoe Ford-Lincoln.

John R. Ashcroft

Secretary of State

Elected November 8, 2016

JOHN R. ASHCROFT (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 40th Secretary of State in January 2017 and again in 2021. Each year Secretary Ashcroft makes it a priority to visit all 114 counties in the state to share ideas and thank Missourians for their hard work and dedication. "From county officials to students, business owners to farmers, Missouri is a great place to live, work and raise a family. It's my privilege to represent the hard-working people of our state."

Prior to being elected, he worked as an engineer, professor and attorney. Secretary Ashcroft was born, raised and educated in Missouri. He and his wife, Katie, have three sons and one daughter.

Ashcroft attended Missouri University of Science and Technology (Rolla) where he earned degrees in engineering management. After graduating he moved to West Plains, Missouri, to work for a defense-based engineering company where he managed an outstanding team of individuals who worked to develop instruments used in vehicles for the Air Force.

In 2000, Ashcroft moved to St. Louis and began teaching engineering and technology courses for Saint Louis Community College. Many of his former students carried their enhanced engineering capacities into their jobs in St. Louis' auto manufacturing industry.

After a decade devoted to engineering, Ashcroft sought to bring his technical experience into the practice of law. He graduated from St. Louis University Law School in 2008 and went to work for a legal firm in their Intellectual Property division. Later, he went on to work with his father in the Ashcroft Law Firm, specializing in helping businesses comply with the impact of government regulations. He practiced law for eight years in St. Louis County, counseling clients on legal issues ranging from regulatory compliance to patent prosecution to election law.

As secretary of state, Ashcroft oversees multiple divisions including Administrative Rules, Business Services, Securities, State Archives, Publications, the State Library and Elections.

As the state's chief election officer, the secretary oversees federal and state elections, provides guidance to local election authorities and maintains and secures the Missouri Centralized Voter Registration system. As election integrity has always been a top priority, Ashcroft spearheaded the first National Election Security Summit held in St. Louis in 2018.

The Business Services Division of the secretary of state's office answers over 2,000 phone calls every week and maintains more than 1.2 million business registrations. Ashcroft has helped streamline this registration process, making it easier and more convenient for entrepreneurs. The division also handles notaries and commissions, UCC and the Safe at Home address confidentiality program.

Through his Securities Division, Ashcroft created the Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit to help protect seniors and other at-risk populations from investment fraud.

During his tenure, Secretary Ashcroft has worked closely with members of the state legislature to secure resources vital to better serve Missouri, including library funding. Over the last seven years, Ashcroft was able to administer over $9 million in grant funding to help expand library access and improve resources. He believes funding public libraries is one of the most efficient means to increase learning opportunities for Missourians. In 2021, Ashcroft announced a new program - the first in the nation - to give adults the opportunity to earn a high school diploma through their local library.

"By working through the divisions within my office; visiting schools, farms, businesses; promoting our products and our people - I am excited about the future of this great state and truly humbled to serve the people of Missouri. Thank you."

At Secretary of State Jay Ashcroft's direction, the office is focused on holding government more accountable, embracing common sense solutions, modernizing technology and being good stewards of taxpayers' dollars.

The Securities Division actively investigates claims of fraud and abuse, with particular attention paid to vulnerable citizens, including the elderly. The creation of the new Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit focuses on preventing and reducing investor harm, and enhancing awareness about resources and remedies available to vulnerable citizens of all ages.

For more than 90 years, the secretary of state has been responsible for ensuring compliance with state securities laws through the Securities Division. The secretary appoints the commissioner of securities, who administers these laws and oversees the division, which focuses on investor protection and safeguarding Missouri investors from fraud through enforcement, with an emphasis on restitution for investors.

The division is organized into three sections: Investor Education, Registration and Enforcement. The division seeks to serve all Missourians, from investors to investment professionals.

The Investor Education Section creates and promotes initiatives designed to educate and assist investors. This includes a website, accessible at www.missouriprotectsinvestors.com, an Investor Protection Hotline for investors to report complaints or make inquiries and the Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit (VCSU) hotline. The VCSU is designed to protect Missouri's most vulnerable citizens from financial exploitation, including seniors, disabled investors and others who may be at greater risk of financial exploitation. The VCSU conducts investigations and promotes awareness among financial professionals, medical professionals and caregivers through public outreach and investor education.

The Registration Section reviews proposed securities offerings to ensure Missouri registrations are "fair, just and equitable." The office receives filings of federally covered securities, reviews requests for exemptions from registration requirements and assists issuers seeking to raise capital in compliance with the law. This section also regulates the registration of individuals and firms, performs routine and for-cause inspections and pre-registration exams of the offices of broker-dealers and investment advisers. Prior to granting each registration, an application review process is conducted to determine if applicants are sufficiently qualified to conduct securities business.

The Enforcement Section investigates and resolves complaints from Missouri investors. Each year the office receives numerous investor complaints which may result in the initiation of investigations, many of which result in cease and desist orders, consent orders, censures, investor restitution, civil penalties or criminal prosecutions. The attorneys and investigators in this section pursue millions of dollars in penalties, payments and restitution each year, and are leaders in national enforcement actions and task forces.

Elections Division

Telephone: (573) 751-2301 / FAX: (573) 526-3242
sos.mo.gov/elections

The Elections Division oversees all state elections for candidates, various judges and statewide ballot issues. Candidates for the six constitutional state offices, U.S. Congress, the General Assembly and certain judges file for election with the secretary of state. Statewide ballots for primary, general and certain special elections are also prepared by the secretary of state, and certified copies of those ballots are sent to local election officials. It is the responsibility of the office to canvass, certify and publish state election results.

The secretary of state provides assistance to local election authorities (county clerks or election boards) in several ways. This includes maintaining annual election deadline calendars, the secretary of state's website and various training materials and workshops. The secretary of state also promulgates rules governing elections and publishes the Missouri Election Laws for use by the local election authorities. The secretary of state works together with state and local officials, schools and civic organizations to provide materials to support voter registration, civic responsibility and education. This collaboration also extends to oversight of the statewide poll worker recruitment initiative.

The office also assists military and overseas voters by facilitating their voter registration and absentee ballot request process. The Missouri Military and Overseas Portal, created and maintained by the secretary of state's office, is available online for these eligible voters.

The secretary of state also certifies statewide ballot measures proposed by the General Assembly or through the initiative and referendum petition process, including the oversight of signature verification. Before an initiative petition can be circulated, the petition and its summary statement must be approved by the secretary of state and the state attorney general. The secretary of state must certify the summary statement along with the state auditor's fiscal note statement. The secretary of state is responsible for verifying the number of signatures collected for each initiative. A ballot issue's full text is published in newspapers around the state, printed for display at polling places and is also available on the secretary of state's website. The secretary of state also oversees the signature verification process for the formation of new political parties and the nomination of independent candidates for offices that file with the secretary of state.

The division is responsible for coordinating Missouri's compliance with federal election law, including the Help America Vote Act of 2002, which requires increased training for election officials, poll workers and voters, at least one accessible voting system per polling place for voters with disabilities and the creation of a statewide voter registration list.

The secretary of state's office upholds the fairness and security of all elections. The Elections Integrity Unit investigates concerns from voters and local election authorities. The secretary of state is responsible for the overall integrity of the election process and ensuring every registered Missourian's vote counts.

State funds also support summer reading programs in public libraries. The State Library coordinates the funding for the Remote Electronic Access to Libraries (REAL) Program, which provides Internet access for public libraries. The federal Library Services and Technology Act provides approximately $3 million in funding for grants to libraries and for statewide projects.

The State Library also serves as the lead agency for the State Census Data Center program, a cooperative venture with the U.S. Census Bureau.

Secretary's Council on Library Development

The Secretary's Council on Library Development advises the secretary of state and the state librarian on matters that relate to the State Library and library service to Missourians. A list of council members is provided at sos.mo.gov/library/council/sosc.

Reference Services

The Reference Services division supports the research needs of Missouri state government employees with its collection of books, journals, newspapers and government documents in print and digital formats. It is also a member of MOBI-US, the statewide library consortium of academic and public libraries in Missouri, which provides access to many additional resources.

Records Services Division

600 W. Main, PO Box 1747, Jefferson City 65102
sos.mo.gov/records

Established as a separate department in 1965, Records Services includes three divisions, the Missouri State Archives, Records Management and Local Records. These divisions are collectively responsible for managing the current and historical records of the state, while preserving and making them accessible to Missouri citizens.

Missouri State Archives

Telephone: (573) 751-3280
sos.mo.gov/archives

The Missouri State Archives is the official repository for government records of enduring value. Its mission is to foster an appreciation of Missouri history by preserving and making available the state's permanent records to its citizens and their government.

Records in the Archives date back to 1770. They include executive, legislative and judicial records; records of state departments and agencies; early French and Spanish colonial and U.S. territorial records; records documenting women's and African American history, military records from the War of 1812 through World War II; records detailing Missouri's role in America's westward expansion; trademarks and business records.

The Missouri State Archives is one of the most accessed state repositories in the nation and continues to be recognized by historical and genealogical organizations for its service to the researcher community. While thousands visit or write each year, the majority now use the Archives' website as their preferred research method.

In recent years, the Missouri State Archives has become involved in a number of important initiatives including the centennial commemoration of the 19th Amendment and the state bicentennial. The Archives also continues to work with the State Library to develop the Missouri Digital Heritage website, an online portal where the public can access digital collections from institutions across the state.

The Archives is devoted to educating the public about its collection. Tours and programs are provided for school and civic groups across the state while Archives Alive!, a history based theatrical performance, brings history to life in Jefferson City each spring for thousands of Missouri third- and fourth-grade students. The Friends of the Missouri State Archives support the Archives by underwriting many of the costs associated with these and other outreach activities. The Archives also hosts practicum students and interns from numerous colleges and universities and sponsors the Central Missouri Region National History Day competition.

Volunteers are an important MSA resource. They provide invaluable support to staff, helping with records processing projects across the state, as well as assisting with reference services and tours in Jefferson City. The Archives' innovative e-Volunteer program provides indexing and transcription services from their home computers. Completed projects are placed online, providing greater access to collections.

Missouri Board on Geographic Names

sos.mo.gov/archives/about/geographic.asp

The Missouri Board on Geographic Names was created through a 1995 executive order issued by Gov. Mel Carnahan to coordinate place-naming activity among local, state and federal authorities. Additionally, the board provides uniformity in geographic nomenclature throughout the state, while retaining the significance, history and culture associated with the names of Missouri's geographic features. Proposed changes or additions to names of geographic features and places are received and evaluated, and recommendations are made to the U.S. Board on Geographic Names for approval. Members include both interested citizens and professionals.

Records Management

sos.mo.gov/records/recmgmt

Records Management provides state agencies with the necessary instruments to effectively manage information and records in order to promote the efficiency and continuity of government, document the rights of Missouri citizens and preserve the state's heritage. The division includes three sections: Records Analysis, Imaging Services and the State Records Center.

Records Analysts assist state agencies in identifying and effectively managing their official records. Analysts consult with agency officials on retention schedules and advise agencies on cost and technical matters related to microfilm, digital imaging and low-cost storage of inactive and semi-active records.

Imaging Services provides micrographic and digital imaging services to state agencies and local governments. Agencies can reduce the volume of, improve access to and ensure archival preservation for their long-term and significant records by utilizing these services.

The State Records Center provides state agencies with an economical storage solution for inactive records. The transfer of inactive files to the records center allows agencies to free up office space and equipment, saving Missouri taxpayers millions of dollars over the life of the records.

State Records Commission

sos.mo.gov/records/recmgmt/src

The State Records Commission was created by statute in 1964. The Commission, working with the Records Services Division, reviews and establishes retention periods and guidelines for records in the executive branch of government, regardless of format.

Local Records

Telephone: (573) 751-9047

sos.mo.gov/archives/localrecs

Local Records works to improve long-term management of local government records by advising, educating and encouraging records custodians in the use of sound records management and archival practices. Local Records archivists provide expertise to local government officials on the retention of records and records preservation projects.

Through Local Records, documents of great historical value are identified and preserved, revealing long-lost local histories and enhancing the collection of the Missouri State Archives. Consultations, records inventories and preservation projects conducted by division staff make local public records more accessible. More than 3,500 governmental entities, including all offices in county, municipal and local district government offices, rely on Local Records for assistance in managing records. Field archivists are located around the state to assist this effort.

Local Records also houses the state document conservation lab, where staff provide advice to local government offices on all aspects of record care, preservation and disaster recovery. Conservation treatments are performed on the state's most historically significant and fragile documents.

Local Records Board

Since 1976, the Administrative Rules division has been charged by state law with setting uniform standards, procedures and guidelines for the preparation and publishing of rules in the Missouri Register and the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The Administrative Rules Division initially publishes rulemakings proposed by state agencies in the Missouri Register. The rulemakings are published to provide public notice and allow agencies to receive comments and revise the proposed rulemakings based on comments. Agencies then file final versions of orders of rulemaking with the division for final publication in the Missouri Register and subsequently in the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The division provides a user's guide for the proper preparation and filing of agency rules entitled Missouri State Rulemaking Manual, which is available on the secretary of state's website.

The Administrative Rules division also publishes emergency rules in the Missouri Register. An agency may file an emergency rule if the agency finds an immediate danger to public health, safety, or welfare or if the emergency rule is necessary to preserve a compelling governmental interest that requires an early effective date, prior to that allowed by the traditional rulemaking process. An emergency rule is only in effect for a limited period of time and normally has a corresponding proposed rulemaking that allows for public notice and comment. Once an emergency rule is approved and processed, it may be viewed on the secretary of state's website under the Emergency Rules section until it is published in the Missouri Register.

The Missouri Register is published twice a month, and updates to the 16-volume Missouri Code of State Regulations are published once a month. Both the Missouri Register and Missouri Code of State Regulations are available on the secretary of state's website. Additionally, Missourians who are interested in particular rules may sign up on the secretary of state's website for email notification of rule filings by rule number or subject matter.

State Auditor

Elected November 8, 2022

SCOTT FITZPATRICK (Republican) is the 39th State Auditor of Missouri. He took the oath of office on Jan. 9, 2023 after being elected to his first term in November of 2022.

As auditor, he serves as Missouri's taxpayer watchdog, making sure government at all levels is efficient, effective and transparent. He is committed to rooting out fraud in government and ensuring those who are responsible for stealing taxpayer dollars are held accountable for their actions. Scott has emphasized the need to closely scrutinize the dramatic increase in state and local government spending that has resulted from the trillions of dollars allocated by the federal government in response to COVID-19. He has committed his office to thoroughly reviewing how these tax dollars have been spent to identify any waste, misappropriation, or fraud that has taken place.

As the son of a teacher and the father of four young boys, Scott believes providing a quality education for the next generation of Missourians is the state's most important job. One of his primary goals as auditor is to ensure the billions of dollars appropriated for Missouri's schools each year are being spent effectively, and are being used to prepare young people for success in the workforce or in pursuit of a college education. Despite the fact that state funding to the 516 public school districts represents the second largest expenditure of taxpayer money in the state, previous state auditors have averaged just over one school district audit annually over the last 15 years. As auditor, Scott has prioritized school audits with the goal of improving school performance and ensuring parents are well informed on how their money is being spent to prepare their kids for future success.

Prior to his tenure as auditor, Scott served as state treasurer where his record reflects his commitment to fiscally conservative values as well as his support for small businesses and Missouri families. In his first two years in office, he doubled the size of MOABLE, Missouri's savings and investment program for individuals with disabilities and their families. Scott also worked to make MOST, Missouri's 529 Education Plan, more cost-effective for account owners by negotiating lower fees. Under his leadership, the plan became one of the highest rated in the country.

During his service as treasurer, Scott returned record amounts of Unclaimed Property to Missourians. He became the fastest treasurer in state history to return $1 million, doing so in just his first nine days in office. In addition, he launched innovative partnerships with the Dept. of Social Services and the Dept. of Labor and Industrial Relations Division of Employment Security to help reunite Missourians with their Unclaimed Property. The partnership with the Dept. of Social Services produced an automated system to match past-due child support cases with the Unclaimed Property database. This partnership returned nearly $4.5 million to Missouri families.

While treasurer, Scott also worked with the Missouri Housing Development Commission to improve transparency and efficiency within the low-income housing tax credit program. He implemented significant reforms including a scoring rubric used to grade all applications for public support, which enables comparison of approved and unapproved projects. The rubric prioritizes projects that delivers the most cost effective housing, while meeting quality standards. He also championed a distribution schedule for the tax credits, which significantly increased their value. Because of his efforts, each dollar of tax credits now delivers more affordable housing without spending more taxpayer money.

As treasurer, he worked to promote government transparency and efficiency at all levels of government. Under his leadership, the office expanded the Show-Me Checkbook, one of the most comprehensive state financial data portals in the country, to include local governments.

Before his service as a statewide elected official, Scott served three terms in the Missouri House of Representatives. He was first elected state representative in 2012, at the age of 25, to represent Barry and portions of Stone and Lawrence counties. Serving as chair of the House Budget Committee, 2017 and 2018, he was responsible for the drafting and passage of Missouri's $28 billion annual operating budget. Under his conservative leadership, the state's budget surplus nearly tripled to almost $500 million, while Missouri schools were fully funded for the first time in nearly a decade.

Scott understands the needs of Missouri's business-owners. As a teenager in 2003, he started his own company, MariCorp U.S., a Shell Knob-based marine manufacturing and construction company that does business coast-to-coast. His experience growing his company inspired him to run for office to fight unnecessary red tape and burdensome regulations.

A lifelong Missourian, Scott graduated from Cassville High School and the University of Missouri. He and his wife Mallory have four sons, Luke, Carson, Noah and Henry.

Vivek Malek

State Treasurer

Appointed January 17, 2023

VIVEK MALEK (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 48th State Treasurer on Jan. 17, 2023, the latest chapter in his inspiring American story.

Treasurer Malek was born in Rohtak, India, about 40 miles northwest of New Delhi. He earned bachelors and law degrees in India before coming to Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau for his masters in business administration. Arriving in Missouri on Aug. 11, 2001, after the first plane trip of his life, Treasurer Malek had two suitcases and $300 in his pocket. He was immediately welcomed into the community, and Malek fell in love with Missouri.

Through hard work and study, Treasurer Malek earned his MBA and went on to receive a master of laws degree from the University of Illinois College of Law. He decided to make Missouri his home and began practicing law. Malek became a proud American citizen, and he built a successful law practice devoted to helping other legal immigrants achieve their American dreams through citizenship.

In January 2020, Gov. Mike Parson tapped Vivek to serve on the Southeast Missouri State University Board of Governors. Governor Parson again recognized Treasurer Malek's leadership on Dec. 20, 2022, appointing him as Missouri State Treasurer. Within his first three days in office, Malek set a new Missouri record for the most unclaimed property returned so early in an administration, more than $1.7 million. The Missouri treasurer is the custodian of more than $1 billion in unclaimed property that is waiting to be claimed by its rightful owners.

As a strong fiscal conservative, Treasurer Malek's approach to success in his job centers on what he calls the "Three P's":

First: PROTECT Taxpayers' Money by ensuring investments are safe while earning the best rate of return for Missourians.

Second: PROVIDE Opportunities for Growth by successfully managing programs like MOST 529, MOScholars, MO ABLE and MOBUCK$, all of which are administered by the treasurer's office.

Third: PROMOTE the Promise of America.

"I am blessed to have truly lived the American Dream," he says. "I owe so much to America and Missouri, and I want to give back. America is a place of limitless possibilities, where you can achieve anything if you work hard and get an education. This is the American Dream."

Treasurer Malek and his wife Riju are the parents of three very active children: Their daughter Naija, son Viraj and daughter Myra.

The state treasurer serves as Missouri's chief financial officer. The treasurer protects taxpayer funds from fraud and abuse, manages the state's multi-billion dollar investment portfolio, safeguards more than $1 billion in Unclaimed Property, manages a small business and agriculture economic development program and administers the state's tax-advantaged education and disability savings plans.

Protecting Missouri Taxpayers

Banking and Investments

The state treasurer is custodian of state funds and manages its investments while maintaining Missouri's AAA bond rating (the highest rating issued by Standard & Poor's, Moody's and Fitch Ratings). Missouri is one of the few states with the distinction of a triple-triple credit rating. To accomplish this, his duties include:

- Authorizing payments and balancing accounts.
- Protecting taxpayer funds against fraud and abuse.
- Contracting with Missouri banks to process state receipts and disbursements; handling money and security transfers; reporting on the state's accounts, balancing and payment activities; providing related banking services.
- Determining the amount of state funds not needed for current operating expenses and investing those funds in interest-bearing time deposits in Missouri banks, U.S. Treasury and federal agency securities, repurchase agreements, commercial paper and banker's acceptances.

Helping Farmers and Small Business Owners

MOBUCK$

MOBUCK$, formerly known as Missouri FIRST, is the state's linked-deposit program. Linked

CLAYTON CAMPBELL
Deputy State Treasurer

RAY BOZARTH
Chief of Staff

Deposits allow the state to invest in Missouri farmers and ranchers and small businesses by providing backing for low-interest loans through partnerships with qualified Missouri lenders. These loans save borrowers approximately 30% off the standard interest rate. Borrowers can find a list of participating lenders and hundreds of branches throughout Missouri. More information about the program is available online at treasurer.mo.gov.

School Choice

MOScholars

In 2021, the Missouri General Assembly passed HB 349 and SB 86 which established the Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts Program, also known as MOScholars. The law provides state tax credits for donations to approved, non-profit Educational Assistance Organizations (EAOs). EAOs use these donations to fund scholarships for Missouri students with Individual Education Plans (IEPs) and students living in low-income households. More information is available online at treasurer.mo.gov.

Empowering Missourians with Disabilities

MO ABLE

The state treasurer administers MO ABLE, a savings plan that empowers Missourians living with disabilities and their families to save and invest through tax-free savings accounts. This savings plan is designed to give individuals with special needs more independence and financial security by providing a flexible, secure and accessible way to save for their long-term needs. Launched in 2017, MO ABLE allows families to save money for use on qualified expenses such as education, healthcare, housing, transportation and more. Benefits of the program include:

- MO ABLE functions similarly to Missouri's MOST 529 Education Plan. Missourians

- Earnings in MO ABLE Accounts are not subject to federal or state income tax, as long as funds are spent on qualified expenses.
- Account set up and enrollment can be accomplished online free of charge. An initial contribution of at least $25 is required to set up an account.

Missourians can also use 529 accounts to pay for expenses related to apprenticeships, expenses at private or religious schools and up to $10,000 in student loan repayment:

- You can start an account with any amount and contribute as you are able.
- Missourians who contribute to MOST 529 accounts will be eligible for a state tax deduction of up to $8,000 or $16,000 if married and filing jointly.

Returning Missourians their Money

The state treasurer is responsible for returning Missourians' Unclaimed Property. Each year financial institutions, businesses, government agencies and other organizations turn over millions of dollars in cash and other property to the treasurer's office. The treasurer currently holds more than $1 billion in unclaimed assets. One in ten Missourians has unclaimed property, and the average return is $300. The treasurer's office works diligently to return money that is right-fully owed to Missourians by:

- Creating public awareness by publishing the names of owners of unclaimed property in Missouri newspapers. Names of more than 145,000 owners are printed in more than 100 news publications across the state, as required by state law.
- Building innovative partnerships with Missouri government agencies that help reconnect Missourians who need it most with their unclaimed assets.

- Working to return unclaimed military medals and insignia to the heroes who earned them by encouraging Missourians to search the treasurer's office website. Pictures are paired with the names and last known addresses of the safe deposit box owners in which the medals and insignia were found. This information is available at treasurer.mo.gov/military.
- Allowing Missourians to donate their unclaimed property to any of 20 charitable organizations operating in Missouri. The process of donating unclaimed property can be completed entirely online in most cases.
- Individuals can search the treasurer's database online at ShowMeMoney.com for unclaimed property 24/7. They can also sign up for email alerts when new unclaimed property comes in matching their information and can also file paperless claims. The treasurer's office will never charge to return your unclaimed property.

Andrew T. Bailey

Attorney General

Appointed January 3, 2023

ANDREW T. BAILEY (Republican) serves as Missouri's 44th Attorney General.

Andrew is a combat veteran, father of four, prosecutor, and constitutional conservative who fights for the people of Missouri every day as the chief legal officer.

Andrew went to college at the University of Missouri on an Army scholarship. Following the September 11th terrorist attacks on the United States, Andrew was commissioned as an officer in the Army and took an Oath to defend our Constitution. He volunteered for combat duty to take the fight to the enemies of freedom, volunteered to go to Iraq, and did two tours as an Armored Cavalry Officer. For his service, Andrew was awarded two Army Achievement Medals, an Army Commendation Medal, a Combat Action Badge and two Bronze Star Medals.

Following the honor of wearing the uniform to serve our nation, Andrew returned to his alma mater to attend law school, and became a prosecutor to fight violent crime and protect Missouri communities. He began his legal career at the Missouri Attorney General's Office as an assistant attorney general and later served as an assistant prosecuting attorney for the Warren County Prosecuting Attorney's Office and as general counsel for the Missouri Department of Corrections. In 2019, Andrew joined the Missouri Governor's Office, serving first as deputy counsel and then general counsel. Andrew has handled countless cases in both state and federal courts throughout his career, defending our constitutional freedoms and the most vulnerable while delivering justice for victims.

It was in the courtroom where Andrew saw too many Missouri children in need of a caring, loving home. Those experiences motivated him and his wife, Jessica, to become foster parents. They are now blessed with four beautiful children ranging from 6 months to 10 years old, and reside in Montgomery County.

As attorney general, Andrew is focused on protecting the Constitution, enforcing the laws as written, defending the state, supporting the counties, and training a new generation of service-minded attorneys.

The Attorney General's Office represents the state's legal position at every level of trial and appellate courts. The Attorney General prosecutes and defends cases to which the state is a party, including every felony criminal case appealed to the Missouri or United States Supreme Courts and state and federal courts of appeal.

The Attorney General is at the forefront of legal and policy decisions in the state of Missouri directing all litigation to which the state or any state agency or official is a party. He also serves as legal advocate for the public interest.

The Attorney General's Office is organized into two divisions: Civil Litigation and Criminal Litigation. Within those two divisions, the office has eight sections: Consumer Protection, Public Safety, Litigation, Labor, Criminal Appeals, Financial Services, Governmental Affairs and the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit.

In addition to representing the state's legal position, the Attorney General's Office plays a role in protecting Missouri consumers, fighting violent crime, combating human trafficking, rooting out fraud by Medicaid providers, and more.

Housed under the office's Public Safety section, the Special Prosecution Unit aids local prosecutors in complex and complicated cases, typically in Missouri's rural counties. Staffed by prosecutors with over 200 years of experience, the Special Prosecution Unit has worked with prosecutors across the state to handle some of Missouri's most complex and high-profile public safety cases. Also contained in the office's Public Safety section is the Sexually Violent Predator Commitment Unit, which works with the Department of Mental Health to commit sexually violent predators to mental health facilities.

Additionally, the Cold Case Unit, which works to obtain justice for victims of cold case homicides, no matter the passage of time.

The Consumer Protection section typically handles an average of 100,000 consumer complaints each year, which can range from price gouging to phone scams, with the No-Call Unit receiving the majority of consumer complaints. The Consumer Protection section works to mediate those complaints between businesses and individuals to resolve issues without litigation or further legal action. When mediation is unsuccessful, civil litigation and potential criminal prosecution are considered. Under Attorney General Bailey's leadership, the office has recovered millions in restitution for consumers.

The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit works to root out fraud perpetrated by Medicaid providers, and brings legal action where appropriate. Additionally, the Unit investigates claims of abuse and neglect at Medicaid funded facilities. The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit has recovered millions on behalf of taxpayers.

In addition, the Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force gathers law enforcement, victim advocates, prosecutors, and other stakeholders to tackle human trafficking in the State of Missouri. The task force holds quarterly meetings to discuss initiatives and issues, organizes law enforcement operations, and allows for sharing of information, which is critical to combating human trafficking.

The Attorney General's SAFE Kit Initiative is intended to clear the backlog of untested sexual assault kits across the State of Missouri. Through inventory, shipping and testing, the Office gath-

Note: Like other state offices, except governor and lieutenant governor, the attorney general's office was filled by appointment from 1820–1852. The offices then became elective for four-year terms. They changed to two-year elective terms in 1868, and changed back to four-year elective terms in 1875.
