Viewership: 305,941

Over a hundred people shared their stories to celebrate the Waldorf Astoria's 90th anniversary. Among them is a family who used to host a Christmas party at the Cole Porter suite. this weekend the Clark family was able to host their celebration once again. This time it was in the sales gallery.

The famous piano was there for any family sing along. "My dad's brother he's an incredible piano player. At the party every year, he plays the piano. it's a continuation of a long history that our family is coming here and having a good time. Jon Clark shared he bought the dining room table from a suite at an auction and it sits in his brother's home for future family celebrations.
