

Let America Be Strong

By Morgan Spellman

Let America be strong

Let it be the home of the fierce eagle fending for itself

Let it be the place where you feel powerful like the black bear clawing for fish

Seeking an indestructible mindset

(America hasn't been that way)

Let America be the dream the dreamers dreamed

Let it be that fighting warrior

Where nobody or no one is treated unfairly

(It never was "oh mighty" to me)

O, let my land be the land where the flag

Is crowned with courage.

There never has been the ability to overpower

I am the strong

I am the brave

I am the risk taker

I am the hard worker

Finding the same ideas raising my spirits time and time again

Yet

I am the one who has to wonder if we will keep making the same mistakes.

And make America strong again
