

National Alliance (Shi'a) (177) -47

- | | | | | | |
|---|---|--|--|--|--|
| Kurdistan Alliance (62) -2 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● KIU & KIG (9) -1 ● Gorran (9) -1 ● KDP (25) ● PUK (21) | Sunni Etihad Bloc (43) -2 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Mutahidun (28) -1 ● Arabiya (12) -1 ● Loyalty to Anbar (3) | Secular blocs <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Wataniya (21) -21 ● Iraqi Alliance (5) -1 ● Civil Democrats (3) | State of Law Alliance (SLA) (99) -44 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Dawa Party (48) -42 ● Dawa Party in Iraq (13) ● Badr Organization (21) ● Mustaqilun (11) ● Other SLA (6) -2 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Mowatin (ISCI) (31) -1 ● Ahrar (34) ● National Reform Trend (Jaafari) (6) -1 ● Fadhila (6) ● Sadiqun (AAH) (1) -1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Ethnic Minorities (9) ● Others (8) |
|---|---|--|--|--|--|

+73 Possible Reform Front Member

The Reform Front, the new opposition bloc formed from the rump Council of Representative members, claims to have nearly 100 members. A complete list of members cannot be verified, however those encircled above represent likely Reform Front members based on past statements and events.

⊗ Member Boycotting the CoR

Sadrist Trend leader Muqtada al-Sadr announced his boycott of the political process for a period of two months on April 30. The 34 members of the Sadrist Trend-affiliated Ahrar Bloc will also suspend all political activity. The Kurdish parties likewise announced that they would not return to the CoR on May 6, following the attacks on Kurdish CoR members on April 30.