This notice will be supplemented with any new significant facts learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, MDC does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Washington law, the applicability of the Washington data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On or around February 15, 2024, MDC became aware of suspicious activity occurring within a third-party hosted environment in which it stores company data. MDC promptly began an investigation soon after, with assistance from its IT team and the third-party hosting vendor, to confirm the full nature and scope of the activity. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor accessed, copied, and attempted to delete files stored within the third-party hosted environment on or about February 15, 2024. Since that time, MDC has been conducting a thorough review to confirm what types of customer information were impacted and to whom they relate. That review was recently completed, and MDC proceeded with notifying impacted customers.

The types of information impacted for your state's residents may vary by individual, but include the following: name, Social Security number and payment card information.

Notice to Washington Residents

On June 5, 2024, MDC began mailing written notice of this incident to one thousand five hundred ninety-three (1,593) Washington residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon becoming aware of the event, MDC moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of third-party hosted MDC data, and identify potentially affected individuals. MDC is also working to implement additional safeguards.

Additionally, MDC is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud, including advising individuals to report any suspected incidents of identity theft or fraud to their credit card company and/or bank. MDC is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one's credit file, information on protecting against tax fraud, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

MDC is providing written notice of this incident to relevant state regulators, as necessary, and to the three major credit reporting agencies, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion.

NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

Dear <<FirstName>> <<LastName>>:

My Daily Choice, Inc. ("MDC") writes to notify you of an incident that may affect the privacy of some of your information. Although we have no evidence of any identity theft or fraud occurring as a result of this event, this letter provides details of the incident, our response, and resources available to you to help protect your information from possible misuse, should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On or around February 15, 2024, MDC became aware of suspicious activity occurring within a third-party hosted environment in which we store company data. We immediately launched an investigation, with assistance from our IT team and the third-party hosting vendor, to confirm the full nature and scope of the activity. Our investigation determined that an unauthorized actor accessed, copied, and attempted to delete files stored within the third-party hosted environment on or about February 15, 2024. Since that time, we have been conducting a thorough review to confirm what types of customer information was impacted and to whom it relates. We recently completed our review and are notifying you because it was determined that some of your data was impacted.

What Information Was Involved? Our investigation determined your name and the following types of your information were impacted: <<exposed data elements>>. At this time, MDC has no indication identity theft or fraud relating to this incident.

What We Are Doing. Data privacy and security are among MDC's highest priorities, and there are measures in place to protect the information in our care. This investigation and response included confirming the security of our third-party hosted environment, quickly restoring our use of the impacted files and customer services, and reviewing the involved files to identify and notify impacted customers as quickly as possible. While MDC had data security measures in place prior to this incident, as part of our ongoing commitment to the privacy of information, we continue to review our policies, procedures, and processes related to the storage and access of personal information to protect against similar future incidents. We will also notify applicable regulatory authorities where necessary.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports for suspicious activity. You may also review the information contained in the attached Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information.

For More Information. If you have further questions or concerns, please call 1-833-566-1440 toll-free Monday through Friday from 8:00 am – 8:00 pm Eastern (excluding major U.S. holidays).

Sincerely,

Josh Zwagil

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer's name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

Consumers may further educate themselves regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps they can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or their state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. Consumers can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. Consumers have the right to file a police report if they ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, consumers will likely need to provide some proof that they have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and the relevant state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.
