1. Plan for using the premises

The decision referred to in Section 58d of the Infectious Diseases Act obliges operators and the holders of premises to arrange the use of the premises in such a way that the risk of infection that comes with close contact with customers and those engaged in the activities can be avoided. The operator may fulfil its obligations by limiting the number of customers by means of facility arrangements and customers' placement in the premises, or in some other manner that takes into account the special features of its operations. In accordance with section 58i, the operator may require customers over 16 years of age and those participating in the activities to present a COVID-19 certificate, in which case the restrictions do not apply to the premises or activity in question.

Limiting the number of customers in the premises

Arrangements for customer premises and the number of customers

Another manner taking into account the special features of operations

We require customers over 16 years of age and those participating in the activities to present a COVID-19 certificate as follows

2. General responsibilities of the party responsible for the premises

According to Section 58 c of the Infectious Diseases Act, the organiser of and responsible for the premises must ensure that:

1. Arrangements must be put in place in order to ensure that there is sufficient space between customers
2. Customers must have the possibility to wash or sanitize their hands.
3. Clients must be given instructions for cleaning their hands, maintaining a sufficient social distance and for other measures to prevent the spread of infections.
4. The cleaning of the premises and surfaces of the business will be intensified
