

Bill 41 Employer Info Session – Duty to Cooperate and Duty to Maintain Employment

November 16 | 3-4 p.m. (PST)

You are invited to attend our virtual session

Introduced as part of the B.C. government's Bill 41, starting on January 1, 2024, employers and workers will have a legal duty to cooperate in timely and safe return to work, and certain employers will be required to maintain employment with their injured workers in specific circumstances.

You are invited to attend an employer info session to learn more about what these new duties mean for you and your business.

What you'll learn

During the session, you'll learn about the legislation and what the new obligations mean for employers and workers in B.C. You'll also learn about the value of recovery and return to work, and some of the things you can do to help support your workers in the event of an injury. You'll also have an opportunity to ask questions after the presentation.

How to register

The session will take place virtually on Microsoft Teams Live on the following date:

- Thursday, November 16, 2023, 3:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. (Pacific time zone)

Register for the session now.

After you register

We will send registered attendees an email reminder and login instructions in advance of the session. Please add experience@worksafebc.com to your address book to ensure you receive updates.

For more information on recovery and return to work, please visit worksafebc.com:

Employers: Return-to-work information - WorkSafeBC