

These Terms & Conditions govern your request for a withdrawal or distribution from your Individual Retirement Account (IRA). By executing this request, you acknowledge that you understand the tax withholding instructions, and that Robinhood is not responsible for determining the appropriateness of your withholding, withdrawal, or distribution decision. You understand that there may be tax consequences to this decision, including but not limited to tax penalties.

You further understand that you must have sufficient cash in your IRA account for this request to be processed. You expressly assume the responsibility of any consequence that may result from the withdrawal or distribution, and you indemnify and hold harmless Robinhood and its affiliates, and their officers, directors, and employees.

---