

Facing Fear on Halloween

On a _____ (adjective) Halloween night, _____ (number) years ago, one little boy faced his biggest fear. He was so afraid of _____ (Halloween monster) that he never went out trick or treating on Halloween night. He would hide in his _____ (noun) and spend the whole night eating _____ (food).

Finally, he decided he would rather spend Halloween eating _____ (candy), so he worked up the courage to put on his _____ (adjective) costume.

Once he went outside, he decided to _____ (adverb) _____ (verb). Before he reached _____ (noun), he spotted a _____ (Halloween monster). He tried to _____ (verb), but he was frozen with fear.

As the _____ (adjective) monster came closer, he heard a familiar voice. It was then that he realized it wasn't a _____ (Halloween monster). It was his best friend, _____ (proper noun). That's when he realized that the _____ (adjective) monsters on Halloween were all just _____ (adjective) little kids like him.

