0. Introduction

A symbol is a unique identifier of a WTO official document. Based on the WTO Document Nomenclature (or classification scheme), the symbol can be more or less complex according to the series in which the document is being issued, its subject or its type.

The document symbol can be found in the header of the document.

Each symbol is made up of a combination of letters, numbers, and suffixes; typically, the symbol can be broken down into five/six main elements:

1	2	3	4	5
Collection	Series	Type	Number	Status
Example
WT	TPR	S	292	Rev.1
WT/TPR/S/292/Rev.1

A collection is a broad grouping of individual document series. Each collection is made up of certain classes of documents which share a common framework called series. The type refers to the form or structure in which the content is presented followed by a number to indicate a sequential order and the status, a suffix to denote the condition of a document.

Three letter ISO standard codes are also used to identify Members (e.g., POL for Poland, IND for India, etc.).

1	2	3	4	5	6
Collection	Series	Type	Country	Number	Status
Example
G	TBT	N	USA	3	Corr.1
G/TBT/N/USA/3/Corr.1

The present WTO Nomenclature contains the first three main elements of all existing symbols, in a hierarchical order, used in official documents and a brief explanation of abbreviations.

For an overview of all uses of the abbreviations/acronyms, please see Annex I – Acronym's list.

10. WTO Basic Instruments and Selected Documents (BISD)

"Basic Instruments and Selected Documents (BISD) is an annual publication compiling basic information on the WTO and key WTO documents from a given calendar year.

The initial sections list WTO Members and observers, and the Chairpersons of WTO bodies for the year in question. The sections in the middle reproduce key WTO legal instruments, decisions and reports issued by WTO bodies in the relevant calendar year. The final sections list other WTO decisions, reports and selected WTO documents for the year in question, by title and document symbol, without reproducing the text.

Hyperlinks in the electronic version allow readers direct access to the relevant WTO documents. Editorial notes are marked with a ¶.
