Position Statement

The courthouse is a place where all Alaskans have access to a fair and impartial public forum in which to resolve their disputes. As a judge, it is my responsibilities to make sure that all parties know that their cases are important to the court; all participants will be treated with respect; I will listen carefully to the evidence and arguments presented; I will render decisions in a timely manner; and I will explain the factual and legal basis for my decisions.

It is an honor and privilege to serve as a district court judge, and I thank the people of Alaska for giving me this opportunity to serve our great state.
