

MNI CHICAGO PMI REPORT

Forward looking indicator correlated to US GDP

The Chicago Report, known also as the Chicago Business Barometer™ or more commonly called the Chicago PMI is a forward-looking indicator of US economic activity. Focusing on Chicago's dynamic business sector, the Barometer is closely correlated to the official US gross domestic product (GDP) data and provides better forward guidance than similar regional surveys.

WHAT'S INCLUDED:

- A product unique to MNI, produced by in-house experts
- A monthly survey of the greater metropolitan area's overall business community, offering an early look at an economy that closely resembles the wider US
- Tailored to capture current themes via monthly 'special questions'
- A full 7-page PDF outlining the latest month's findings on release
- Data base of past outcomes on 9 measures running back as far as 1946

WHY YOU NEED THIS REPORT:

- Strongly correlated to official US GDP data.
- Also strongly correlated to US ISM data & released 1-day in advance of ISM.
- Sub-indices: seven Business Activity indicators that include: Production, New Orders, Order Backlogs, Employment and Prices Paid.
- In addition, three Buying Policy indicators which measure lead times on Production, Material, Maintenance, Repair and Operations (M.R.O) Supplies and Capital Equipment.
- Insight directly from business decision makers.
- Survey tailored to capture current themes via monthly 'Special Question(s) i.e. China re-opening impact, latest supply chain issues impacting business'.
