ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Moses DeWitt

Moses DeWitt is an attorney with JustCallMoe Injury & Accident Attorneys who has recovered millions for his clients. As an advocate for the injured, he has fought insurance companies and large corporations to get his clients the compensation they deserve.

He is a regular commentator for many media outlets in Florida, including The News Junkie and CNBC on Real Radio 104.1 FM and The Bone 102.5 FM. His sound legal advice has also been utilized by national media outlets, including Newsweek. After graduating from Winter Park High School, he went on to Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, to receive his undergraduate degree in Political Science and to Florida State University College of Law to receive his Juris Doctor.

In addition to serving his accident clients, Moe founded the non-profit, Helmet Heads of Florida, to provide helmets to children throughout Central Florida. Helmet Heads of Florida works to help prevent minor children from suffering traumatic brain injuries, which are almost fully preventable by utilizing the proper safety gear. Moe believes that the job of injury attorneys is to make the world a safer place. To date, Helmet Heads of Florida provided over 2,000 helmets to the children of Central Florida.
