Introductory note

Article 52

1. Nothing in the present Charter precludes the existence of regional arrangements or agencies for dealing with such matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security as are appropriate for regional action, provided that such arrangements or agencies and their activities are consistent with the Purposes and Principles of the United Nations.

2. The Members of the United Nations entering into such arrangements or constituting such agencies shall make every effort to achieve pacific settlement of local disputes through such regional arrangements or by such regional agencies before referring them to the Security Council.

3. The Security Council shall encourage the development of pacific settlement of local disputes through such regional arrangements or by such regional agencies either on the initiative of the states concerned or by reference from the Security Council.

4. This Article in no way impairs the application of Articles 34 and 35.

Article 53

1. The Security Council shall, where appropriate, utilize such regional arrangements or agencies for enforcement action under its authority. But no enforcement action shall be taken under regional arrangements or by regional agencies without the authorization of the Security Council, with the exception of measures against any enemy state, as defined in paragraph 2 of this Article, provided for pursuant to Article 107 or in regional arrangements directed against renewal of aggressive policy on the part of any such state, until such time as the Organization may, on request of the Governments concerned, be charged with the responsibility for preventing further aggression by such a state.

2. The term enemy state as used in paragraph 1 of this Article applies to any state which during the Second World War has been an enemy of any signatory of the present Charter.

Article 54

The Security Council shall at all times be kept fully informed of activities undertaken or in contemplation under regional arrangements or by regional agencies for the maintenance of international peace and security.

Chapter VIII of the Charter provides the constitutional basis for the involvement of regional arrangements in the maintenance of international peace and security.<sup>1</sup> While Article 52 encourages the involvement of regional arrangements in the pacific settlement of disputes prior to the Council's consideration, Article 53 allows the Council to utilize regional arrangements for enforcement action under its authority and with its explicit authorization. Finally, Article 54 stipulates that regional arrangements should inform the Council of their activities at all times.

The practice of the Security Council under Chapter VIII of the Charter is described in the following

<sup>1</sup> Chapter VIII of the Charter refers to "regional arrangements or agencies". The Repertoire follows the practice of the Council in its use of these terms synonymously with regional and subregional organizations and other international organizations.

five sections: section I captures relevant decisions and debates involving Chapter VIII under items of a thematic nature; section II illustrates various ways in which the Council, in dealing with specific situations under its consideration, encouraged, supported and otherwise reacted to efforts by regional organizations in the peaceful settlement of disputes, or called upon the parties in conflict to cooperate with regional organizations, within the framework of Article 52 of the Charter; section III deals with Council practice relating to peacekeeping operations deployed by regional and other international organizations, ranging from their involvement in the pacific settlement of disputes (Article 52), enforcement action (Article 53), to reporting requirements (Article 54); section IV describes instances in which the Council authorized enforcement action by regional organizations outside the context of regional peacekeeping operations; and section V covers the modalities and mechanisms of reporting to the Council by regional arrangements.

I. Consideration of the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Charter under thematic items

Note

Section I examines the practice of the Security Council in 2010 and 2011 in cooperating with regional organizations in the maintenance of international peace and security within the framework of Chapter VIII of the Charter, in connection with items of a thematic nature. Subsection A deals with decisions adopted under thematic items relating to Chapter VIII of the Charter and subsection B covers discussions under thematic items concerning the interpretation and application of Chapter VIII of the Charter.

A. Decisions adopted under thematic items relating to Chapter VIII of the Charter

In 2010 and 2011, the Security Council adopted a number of decisions under thematic items, which included provisions that could be considered to fall within the framework of Chapter VIII of the Charter (see table 1).

The Council referred explicitly to Chapter VIII of the Charter in several presidential statements relating to the following items: (a) cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security;<sup>2</sup> (b) maintenance of international peace and security;<sup>3</sup>

(c) peace and security in Africa;<sup>4</sup> and (d) United Nations peacekeeping operations.<sup>5</sup> In those decisions, the Council recalled that cooperation with regional and subregional organizations in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security, “consistent with Chapter VIII”, could improve collective security, while reiterating its primary responsibility under the Charter for the maintenance of international peace and security;<sup>6</sup> encouraged the development of peaceful settlement of local disputes through regional arrangements “in accordance with Chapter VIII”;<sup>7</sup> and recognized the role of regional organizations in peacekeeping “in accordance with Chapter VIII”.<sup>8</sup>

The Council recognized that, in deploying peacekeeping operations authorized by the Council, the African Union was contributing towards the maintenance of international peace and security “in a manner consistent with the provisions of Chapter VIII”<sup>9</sup> and affirmed its commitment to strengthening its partnership with the Peace and Security Council of the African Union “consistent with Chapter VIII” in conflict prevention, peacekeeping and peacebuilding, among others.<sup>10</sup>

In other decisions adopted during the period under review, without explicitly mentioning Chapter VIII, the

Council frequently referred to the role played by regional arrangements in various fields including conflict prevention and resolution, peacemaking, peacekeeping and post-conflict peacebuilding. Frequently, it stressed the importance of promoting partnership and cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in order to ensure the coherence, synergy and collective effectiveness of their efforts in those fields.<sup>11</sup>

The Council, in a number of decisions, recognized the contribution of regional and subregional organizations in the pacific settlement of local disputes and conflict prevention.<sup>12</sup> For example, in a presidential statement of 13 January 2010 concerning cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security, the Council considered that regional and subregional organizations were well positioned to understand the root causes of many conflicts and other challenges and underlined the importance of utilizing the existing and potential capacities of those organizations, including by encouraging countries in the region to resolve differences peacefully through dialogue, reconciliation, consultation, negotiation, good offices, mediation and judicial settlement of disputes.<sup>13</sup>

Among several references to peacekeeping efforts by regional arrangements,<sup>14</sup> in a presidential statement of 22 October 2010 in connection with peace and security in Africa, the Council welcomed the continuing important efforts and enhanced peacekeeping role of the African Union and its subregional organizations, consistent with Council resolutions and decisions, to prevent, mediate and settle conflict on the African continent.<sup>15</sup> In the same presidential statement,<sup>16</sup> it reiterated that regional organizations had the responsibility to secure human, financial, logistical and other resources for their organizations, and expressed its determination to continue working, in accordance with its responsibilities under the Charter, towards a more predictable and sustainable solution to the funding challenges observed by the Secretary-General in his progress report on support to African Union peacekeeping operations authorized by the United Nations.<sup>17</sup> At the same time, the Council reiterated the need for further enhancement of regular interaction, coordination and consultations between the United Nations and the African Union on matters of mutual interest.<sup>18</sup>

Central African region: impact of illicit arms trafficking on peace and security
S/PRST/2010/6                      19 March 2010	The Council calls upon the States of the subregion to strengthen efforts to establish mechanisms and regional networks among their relevant authorities for information-sharing to combat the illicit circulation of and trafficking in small arms and light weapons. The Council also stresses the need for the States of the subregion to strengthen their cooperation, including through regional and subregional organizations, in particular the African Union, in order to identify and take appropriate measures against individuals and entities that engage in illegal trafficking in small arms and light weapons in the Central African subregion (eighth paragraph) The Council encourages the Economic Community of Central African States to assist Central African countries in ensuring the effective implementation of arms embargoes imposed by the Council and, in this context, to establish measures such as inquiries into illicit arms trafficking routes, follow-up of possible violations and cooperation in border monitoring, in consultation with the countries concerned. In this regard, the Council encourages the committees in charge of monitoring arms embargoes in Central African countries and neighbouring countries, consistent with their mandates, to continue to include in their annual reports a substantive section on the implementation of arms embargoes and on possible violations of the measures reported to the committees, with recommendations, as appropriate, for strengthening the effectiveness of arms embargoes. This information could also be shared with the International Weapons and Explosives Tracking System of the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) (tenth paragraph)
Cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security
S/PRST/2010/1                      13 January 2010	The Security Council recalls its previous relevant resolutions and the statements by its President which underscore the importance of developing effective partnerships between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and the relevant statutes of the regional and subregional organizations (first paragraph) The Council recalls the purposes and principles of the Charter, reiterates its primary responsibility under the Charter for the maintenance of international peace and security, and further recalls that cooperation with regional and subregional organizations in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security, consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter, can improve collective security (second paragraph)

The Council expresses its intention to consider further steps to promote closer and more operational cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in the fields of conflict early warning, prevention, peacemaking, peacekeeping and peacebuilding, and to ensure the coherence, synergy and collective effectiveness of their efforts. In this regard, it welcomes the strong cooperation initiatives already existing between the United Nations and regional organizations (third paragraph)

The Council commends the ongoing efforts and contributions made by the Secretariat to consolidate partnerships with regional and subregional organizations and welcomes the convening of the Secretary-General's retreat with heads of regional and other organizations on 11 and 12 January 2010. The Council expresses its intention to hold informal interactive dialogues with regional and subregional organizations in the future (fourth paragraph)

The Council reaffirms its commitment to the peaceful settlement of disputes, acknowledges the important contribution of regional and subregional organizations to the peaceful settlement of local disputes and preventive diplomacy, as they are well positioned to understand the root causes of many conflicts and other security challenges. The Council underlines the importance of utilizing the existing and potential capabilities of regional and subregional organizations in this regard, including by encouraging countries in the region to resolve differences peacefully through dialogue, reconciliation, consultation, negotiation, good offices, mediation and judicial settlement of disputes. The Council is resolved to strengthen United Nations support for the peaceful settlement of disputes through improved interaction and cooperation with regional and subregional organizations (fifth paragraph)

The Council invites the Secretariat and all regional and subregional organizations that have a capacity for peacekeeping to enhance their working relations and to further explore how their collaboration could better contribute to the fulfilment of United Nations mandates and goals, so as to ensure a coherent framework for peacekeeping. The Council underlines the importance of regional and subregional organizations enhancing their peacekeeping capabilities and the value of international support to their efforts, in particular to the African Union, in terms of the 2006 United Nations-African Union Ten-year Capacity-Building Programme for the African Union (sixth paragraph)

The Council recognizes the role that regional and subregional organizations can play in post-conflict peacebuilding, recovery, reconstruction and development processes and affirms the importance of interaction and cooperation between the Peacebuilding Commission and regional and subregional organizations. The Council encourages the Commission to continue to work in close consultation with regional and subregional organizations, with a view to ensuring more consistent and integrated strategies for post-conflict peacebuilding and recovery (seventh paragraph)

The Council recognizes the need for close cooperation with regional and subregional organizations, as appropriate, for the coherent and effective implementation of its resolutions, including those on thematic issues applicable to a wide range of conflict situations (eighth paragraph)

The Council encourages the Secretariat and regional and subregional organizations to further explore information-sharing on their respective capabilities and lessons learned in maintaining international peace and security and to continue to compile best practices, in particular in the field of mediation, good offices and peacekeeping. The Council also encourages the strengthening of cooperation and dialogue among regional and subregional organizations in this regard (ninth paragraph)

Maintenance of international peace and security: conflict prevention

22 September 2011

The Council encourages the peaceful settlement of local disputes through regional arrangements in accordance with Chapter VIII of the Charter. The Council acknowledges the efforts undertaken to strengthen operational and institutional cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations for conflict prevention, and in this regard reiterates the need to continue strengthening strategic dialogue, partnerships and more regular exchange of views and information at the working level, with the aim of building national and regional capacities in relation to the preventive diplomacy tools of, inter alia, mediation, gathering and analysis of information, early warning, prevention and peacemaking (eleventh paragraph)

Maintenance of international peace and security: ensuring the Security Council's effective role in maintaining international peace and security

23 September 2010

The Council calls upon Member States to resolve differences peacefully and draws particular attention to the importance of preventive diplomacy as a cost-effective and efficient way of crisis management and conflict resolution. The Council encourages and reaffirms its support for endeavours aimed at enhancing the preventive capacities of the Member States, the United Nations, and regional and subregional organizations. The Council stresses, in particular, the importance of developing early warning, assessment, mediation and response capabilities of these actors, as well as ensuring a sound coordination among them (seventh paragraph)

The Council pays tribute to the efforts undertaken by the Secretary-General in using his good offices, his Representatives, Special Envoys and mediators, as well as by regional and subregional organizations to help to facilitate durable and comprehensive settlements, and undertakes to continue to support their work (eighth paragraph)

Decision and date

Provision

The Council reiterates its commitment to strengthening its strategic partnerships with and support to regional and subregional organizations, consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter, in conflict prevention, peacemaking, peacekeeping and peacebuilding. The Council also underlines that it should continue to strengthen its partnerships with all other relevant players both at the strategic level and on the ground, in particular the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, the Peacebuilding Commission, international financial institutions, such as the World Bank, and civil society (seventeenth paragraph)

Maintenance of international peace and security: moving forward with security sector reform: prospects and challenges in Africa

12 October 2011

The Council notes that the bulk of the international community's assistance in the area of security sector reform takes place in and is directed to countries in Africa. At the same time, a number of African countries are becoming important providers of such assistance. The Council welcomes this intra-African collaboration and emphasizes that there is a need to expand the consideration given to African perspectives on security sector reform. This includes enhancing cooperation with regional and subregional organizations, as well as sharing knowledge and experience with women and members of civil society. Focusing security sector reform efforts on the needs and priorities of populations in post-conflict countries will considerably enhance the legitimacy, viability and sustainability of such support (second paragraph)

The Council recognizes the importance of regional frameworks as a foundation for multilateral security sector reform efforts. In this regard, the Council welcomes the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union in developing a continental security sector reform policy framework, for its implementation. The Council encourages other regions to consider establishing such partnerships in order to better facilitate the exchange of lessons learned and best practices, as well as develop regional frameworks for security sector reform support, reflecting the participation of regional and subregional organizations. The Council also recognizes the support provided by bilateral actors, as well as regional actors, including the European Union, to security sector reform efforts in Africa and other initiatives in the area of security sector reform in Africa carried out by organizations such as the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) and the Community of Portuguese-speaking Countries (fifth paragraph)

The Council recognizes the important role that the United Nations has played in supporting national efforts to build sustainable security institutions, and commends the efforts of the United Nations, in particular the Department of Peacekeeping Operations of the Secretariat, including the Security Sector Reform Unit and the United Nations Inter-Agency Security Sector Reform Task Force, in further strengthening a comprehensive United Nations approach to security sector reform, through the development of guidance and civilian capacities, coordination mechanisms and collaboration with regional and subregional organizations, in particular the African Union (ninth paragraph)

Maintenance of international peace and security: optimizing the use of preventive diplomacy tools: prospects and challenges in Africa

16 July 2010

The Council encourages the development of peaceful settlement of local disputes through regional arrangements in accordance with Chapter VIII of the Charter and reiterates its support for the efforts of regional and subregional organizations, in particular the African Union, ECOWAS, the Southern African Development Community, the East African Community, the Intergovernmental Authority on Development and the Economic Community of Central African States, as regards conflict prevention. The Council acknowledges the need for closer and more operational cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in Africa to build national and regional capacities in relation to the preventive diplomacy tools of mediation, information-gathering and analysis, early warning, prevention and peacemaking, and in this context the Council recognizes the important role that regional United Nations offices, such as the United Nations Office for West Africa, can play and stresses the valuable contribution of mediation capacities such as the Council of Elders, the Panel of the Wise and the good offices of the Secretary-General and his special envoys, and of regional and subregional organizations, to ensuring the coherence, synergy and collective effectiveness of their efforts (ninth paragraph)

The Council underlines the importance of continually engaging the potential and existing capacities and capabilities of the United Nations Secretariat, regional and subregional organizations as well as national Governments in preventive diplomacy efforts, including mediation, and welcomes the promotion of regional approaches to the peaceful settlement of disputes (tenth paragraph)

Maintenance of international peace and security: the interdependence between security and development

11 February 2011

The Council encourages close cooperation within the United Nations system and with regional, subregional and other organizations on the ground and at Headquarters in order to properly engage in conflict and post-conflict situations, in accordance with its responsibilities under the Charter, and expresses its willingness to consider ways to improve such cooperation (eleventh paragraph)

Peace and security in Africa

22 October 2010

The Security Council recalls its previous relevant resolutions and the statements by its President which underscore the importance of developing effective partnerships between the United Nations and regional organizations, in particular the African Union, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and the relevant statutes of the regional organizations (first paragraph)

The Council reiterates its primary responsibility under the Charter for the maintenance of international peace and security, and recalls that cooperation with regional and subregional organizations in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security and consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter can improve collective security (second paragraph)

Decision and dateProvision

The Council welcomes the continuing important efforts and enhanced peacekeeping role of the African Union and its subregional organizations, consistent with Council resolutions and decisions, to prevent, mediate and settle conflicts on the African continent, and, taking into account the increasing importance of conflict prevention, notes with appreciation the positive efforts made towards peace and security in Africa (third paragraph)

The Council recognizes that, in deploying peacekeeping operations authorized by the Council, the African Union is contributing towards the maintenance of international peace and security, in a manner consistent with the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Charter (fourth paragraph)

The Council recalls the statement by its President of 26 October 2009, in which it requested the Secretary-General to submit a progress report on United Nations support to the African Union when it undertakes peacekeeping operations authorized by the United Nations, following his report of 18 September 2009, which detailed ways in which effective support could be provided by the United Nations, including an assessment of the recommendations contained in the report of the African Union-United Nations panel on modalities for support to African Union peacekeeping operations (fifth paragraph)

The Council reaffirms the importance of and its commitment to strengthening its partnership with the Peace and Security Council of the African Union, consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter, by reviewing the degree of cooperation between them with regard to conflict prevention and resolution, peacekeeping, peacebuilding, including the maintenance of constitutional order, the promotion of human rights, democracy and the rule of law in Africa, as stressed in the communiqués of their members, including that of 9 July 2010 (seventh paragraph)

The Council reiterates the need for further enhancement of regular interaction, coordination and consultation between the United Nations and the African Union on matters of mutual interest. The Council welcomes in this regard the inaugural meeting of the United Nations-African Union Joint Task Force on Peace and Security, held in New York on 25 September 2010, and encourages the Task Force to focus on strategic and country-specific issues on the continent of interest to both organizations (eighth paragraph)

The Council welcomes the establishment, on 1 July 2010, of the United Nations Office to the African Union, which integrates the mandates of the former United Nations Liaison Office to the African Union, the African Union Peacekeeping Support Team, the United Nations Planning Team for the African Union Mission in Somalia, and the support elements of the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur Joint Support and Coordination Mechanism, as a concrete step in the strengthening of cooperation between the United Nations Secretariat and the African Union Commission (ninth paragraph)

The Council underscores the importance of expediting the implementation, in close consultation with other international partners, of the 2006 United Nations-African Union Ten-year Capacity-building Programme for the African Union focusing mainly on peace and security, in particular the operationalization of the African Standby Force and the Continental Early Warning System. The Council supports the ongoing efforts to strengthen the African Peace and Security Architecture and reiterates its call for the international community, particularly donors, to fulfil their commitments as endorsed in the 2005 World Summit Outcome (tenth paragraph)

The Council reiterates that regional organizations have the responsibility to secure human, financial, logistical and other resources for their organizations, including through contributions by their members and support from partners. The Council welcomes the valuable financial support provided by the African Union's partners towards its peacekeeping operations, including through the African Peace Facility, and calls upon all partners to render more support (eleventh paragraph)

The Council reaffirms its resolution 1809 \(2008\), in which it recognizes the need to enhance the predictability, sustainability and flexibility of financing for regional organizations when they undertake peacekeeping under a United Nations mandate (twelfth paragraph)

The Council notes the observation of the Secretary-General in his report that, while the African Union is taking critical measures to enhance its institutional capacity to undertake peacekeeping operations with the support of United Nations and key partners, the issue of securing sustainable, predictable and flexible financing remains a key challenge. The Council expresses its determination to continue working, in accordance with its responsibilities under the Charter, towards a more predictable and sustainable solution to these funding challenges (thirteenth paragraph)

The Council notes the continuing efforts of the African Union to enhance its institutional capacity to enable it to effectively plan, manage and deploy peacekeeping operations (fourteenth paragraph)

The Council, in this regard, calls upon the African Union to work towards the implementation of a long-term and comprehensive capacity-building strategic framework in consultation with the United Nations and other international partners (fifteenth paragraph)

Post-conflict peacebuilding

16 April 2010

The Council emphasizes the need for the United Nations system to strengthen strategic partnership with other international, regional and subregional organizations, as well as financial institutions, in particular by promoting coherence and coordination among their plans and programmes. In this connection, the Council looks forward to further strengthening of the cooperation between the United Nations and the World Bank at both the headquarters and the field levels, and to the Secretary-General including in his follow-up report details of the steps that have been taken in generating more timely, predictable and accountable responses for the key peacebuilding sectors as requested (twelfth paragraph)

Decision and date	Provision
S/PRST/2010/20 13 October 2010	The Council welcomes and encourages more coordinated, coherent and integrated peacebuilding efforts, which includes forging stronger partnerships among Member States, regional and subregional organizations, the World Bank and other international financial institutions, other multilateral partners, civil society and the private sector with a focus on delivering greater impact and results on the ground (sixth paragraph)
S/PRST/2011/2 21 January 2011	The Council stresses its willingness to make greater use of the advisory role of the Peacebuilding Commission. The Council notes the potential role that the Commission can play in helping to achieve critical peacebuilding objectives, including the development of viable and accountable institutions in the countries on its agenda. The Council also stresses the importance of focused and well-defined partnerships among the United Nations, development agencies, bilateral partners and all other relevant actors, in particular regional and subregional organizations and the international financial institutions, to implement national strategies aimed at effective institution-building which are based on the achievement of results and mutual accountability (fifth paragraph)
United Nations peacekeeping operations
S/PRST/2010/2 12 February 2010	The Council recognizes the contribution of regional and subregional organizations to transition. The Council calls upon all Member States and subregional, regional and international partners to promote coherence and coordination of their peacebuilding plans and programmes with those of the United Nations peacekeeping operation and the wider United Nations presence on the ground (ninth paragraph)
S/PRST/2011/17 26 August 2011	The Council stresses the role of the United Nations peacekeepers in supporting efforts to promote political processes and peaceful settlements of disputes. The Council underlines the need for precise, full and effective implementation of mandates and its intention to continue to review and monitor such implementation on a regular basis. The Council recognizes the role of regional organizations in peacekeeping in accordance with Chapter VIII of the Charter (third paragraph)
Women and peace and security
S/PRST/2010/22 26 October 2010	The Council reiterates its request to Member States and international, regional and subregional organizations to take measures to increase the participation of women in conflict prevention, conflict resolution and peacebuilding, including in decision-making roles in post-conflict governance institutions, appointed and elected. The Council urges the Secretary-General to appoint more women as mediators and special representatives and envoys to pursue good offices on his behalf (sixteenth paragraph)
S/PRST/2011/20 28 October 2011	The Council welcomes the commitments and efforts of Member States, regional organizations and the Secretary-General to implement its resolutions on women and peace and security. The Council, however, remains concerned about the persistence of gaps and challenges that seriously hinder the implementation of resolution 1325 (2000) , including the continued low number of women in formal institutions of conflict prevention and resolution, particularly in preventive diplomacy and mediation efforts (fifth paragraph)

The Council encourages efforts by Member States, the United Nations Secretariat, United Nations field missions, United Nations agencies, funds and programmes, international financial institutions and regional and subregional organizations to, as appropriate, provide support and strengthen the capacities of relevant government institutions and women's organizations engaged in issues related to armed conflict or post-conflict situations. The Council underlines the importance of the participation of women in conflict prevention and resolution efforts, including in the negotiation and implementation of peace agreements, as well as international dialogues, contact groups, engagement conferences and donor conferences in support of conflict resolution. In this regard, the Council reiterates the need to support, as appropriate, local women's peace initiatives, processes for conflict resolution and initiatives that involve women in implementation mechanisms of the peace agreements, including through the local-level presence of United Nations field missions (twelfth paragraph)

The Council acknowledges the significant contribution that women can have in conflict prevention and mediation efforts and encourages Member States, international and regional organizations to take measures to increase the number of women involved in mediation efforts and the number of women in representative roles in regional and international organizations. The Council therefore stresses the importance of creating enabling conditions for women's participation during all stages of peace processes and for countering negative societal attitudes regarding full and equal participation of women in conflict resolution and mediation (thirteenth paragraph)

The three case studies that follow concern discussions on cooperation with regional organizations in peacemaking, peacekeeping and post-conflict peacebuilding (case 1); financing of regional peacekeeping operations authorized by the Council (case 2); and relations with the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (case 3).

Case 1 Cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security

In the concept paper for the debate concerning cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security, it was stated that while the Charter of the United Nations had assigned primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security to the Security Council, in Chapter VIII of the Charter, the founding Members of the United Nations had also encouraged the development of pacific settlement of local disputes through regional arrangements.<sup>22</sup>

At the 6257th meeting, on 13 January 2010, many speakers provided concrete examples of cooperation with regional organizations in peacemaking, peacekeeping and post-conflict peacebuilding, and recognized the comparative advantages of regional organizations in dealing with local conflicts and their complementary roles in maintaining international peace and security.<sup>23</sup> A number of speakers also called for the further strengthening of such cooperation by, for example, developing common goals and establishing a clear division of labour.<sup>24</sup> The Commissioner for Peace and Security of the African Union Commission pointed out that a major challenge for regional organizations and the United Nations was to develop shared, adequate and effective responses to events and situations on which they sometimes took different positions, particularly with regard to unconstitutional changes of government, religious extremism and terrorism, as well as in situations where the regional consensus decisions by organizations such as the African Union were not universally supported.<sup>25</sup>

The Secretary-General recalled that Chapter VIII of the Charter had foreseen a world in which regional organizations and the United Nations would work together on all continents, consistent with the principles of the Charter, to prevent, manage and resolve crises. While over the years the Council had made ample use of its authority to engage in global and regional partnerships, more could and should be done.<sup>26</sup> The representative of the League of Arab States proposed a more in-depth interpretation of Chapter VIII on the basis of lessons learned and past experience of cooperation with regional and subregional organizations, in view of the unprecedented growth of the role of regional organizations and the lack of coherent policies and planning in addressing crises.<sup>27</sup> The Commissioner for Peace and Security of the African Union Commission said that Chapter VIII had proved very flexible and adaptable in dealing with new realities not envisaged in 1945 and that such creativity should be encouraged so that the United Nations and regional organizations could make gains in effectiveness.<sup>28</sup>

The representative of Brazil said that the Charter had laid the foundations for cooperation with regional organizations, which was never an abdication by the Council of its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security but was rather an effective means by which the Council could discharge its responsibility.<sup>29</sup> The representative of the Russian Federation stated that the leading role of the Council as enshrined in the Charter remained inviolable on issues related to the maintenance of international peace and security, particularly with regard to mandate authorization and oversight of regional or coalition peacekeeping operations that allowed for the use of force.<sup>30</sup> The representative of the United Kingdom opined that the Security Council should retain its pre-eminence in matters pertaining to the maintenance of international peace and security, and said that the Council's responsibility was to set the strategic direction for cooperation with regional organizations, which had been envisaged by the founding fathers of the United Nations but which had seen a significant increase in scale and variety.<sup>31</sup> Stressing that cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations as provided for under Chapter VIII aligned with the interests of both, the representative of France held that, while the operations of regional and subregional organizations needed the essential political and legal legitimacy conferred by the Council's mandates, the United Nations could benefit from the operational expertise and means of regional organizations, particularly at a time when the mobilization of all available resources was required.<sup>32</sup>

Several speakers underlined the importance of the United Nations, particularly the Security Council, engaging, consulting and exchanging views with regional and subregional organizations in order to work effectively together in the maintenance of international peace and security.<sup>33</sup> The representative of Japan, citing Article 54 of the Charter, said that the thematic debate was a timely opportunity to have a strategic dialogue, and stressed the significance of high-level dialogue and information-sharing for better cooperation with regional organizations.<sup>34</sup>

Case 2 Peace and security in Africa

In his report dated 14 October 2010<sup>35</sup> on support to African Union peacekeeping operations authorized by the United Nations, the Secretary-General reported that the complex challenges in the world required a revitalized and evolving interpretation of Chapter VIII of the Charter. Highlighting the need for the Security Council to enunciate a vision of strategic partnership which would entail a clearly defined expectation of the role of regional organizations, the Secretary-General emphasized that cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations did not absolve the Council of its Charter-mandated primacy in the maintenance of international peace and security. He opined that efforts to work with regional organizations to collectively address the challenges of peace and security must be undertaken in line with Chapter VIII and coordinated under the auspices of the United Nations. Among the challenges related to relying on United Nations assessed contributions for African Union peace support operations was that, under existing rules and procedures, United Nations support required a case-by-case authorization by the Council, after which the General Assembly determined the scope of the support package and the level of assessed contributions to be provided. In his opinion, the current financial frameworks for partnership in peacekeeping operations were not conducive to building a sustainable long-term strategy, and the support package for regional peacekeeping operations, such as that for the African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM), and the support provided to the United Nations peacekeeping operations, should be identical.

At the 6409th meeting, held on 22 October 2010, concerning peace and security in Africa, the President of the Council (Uganda) stated that the efforts of the African Union to deploy peacekeeping operations effectively continued to be hampered by the lack of sustainable, predictable and flexible funding. Citing AMISOM as a case in point, he called for the Council to take decisive action on practical ways to actualize that support, including through assessed contributions.<sup>36</sup> The Secretary-General called for a solution that would provide predictable, sustainable and flexible resources to the African Union when it undertook peacekeeping operations authorized by the Council under Chapter VIII of the Charter.<sup>37</sup> The Commissioner for Peace and Security of the African Union Commission said that support using United Nations assessed contributions was the most viable response to challenges in the funding of peace support operations led by the African Union. He urged the Council to address the funding issue, which, in his view, had made progress more slowly than Africa had expected, by building on the relevant experiences including the use of support packages extended to the African Union Mission in the Sudan (AMIS) and AMISOM, in line with the Council's primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security. He added that this responsibility should be exercised in full, including its financial implications.<sup>38</sup>

A majority of speakers recognized the importance, as well as the challenges, of securing predictable, sustainable and flexible funding for African Union peacekeeping operations.<sup>39</sup>

The representative of Lebanon stressed that African Union peacekeeping operations should not be financed by voluntary contributions which did not guarantee the sustainability of operations, stating that the African Union, when deploying a peacekeeping operation, acted on behalf, and relied on the support, of the Council, which bore the primary responsibility for international peace and security. He therefore held that the request by the African Union to consider using assessed contributions to finance its operations in specific cases was eminently justified.<sup>40</sup> The representative of Ethiopia also supported the use of assessed contributions to support African Union peacekeeping operations authorized by the United Nations.<sup>41</sup> The representative of Turkey held that, in the light of the experiences of financing the logistical support package for AMISOM through United Nations assessed contributions, the Council must be ready to consider the use of assessed contributions to support similar United Nations-authorized operations on a case-by-case basis in the future. He said that it could help the Council to overcome the biggest challenge standing in the way of African peacekeeping operations, and could enhance United Nations-African Union strategic cooperation.<sup>42</sup>

The representative of Brazil pointed out that elements of the support package for AMISOM not covered by assessed contributions, such as reimbursement for contingency-owned equipment and troop allowances, had suffered from piecemeal donor support and that caveats and earmarks seriously undermined the effectiveness of the support provided.<sup>43</sup> The representative of the Sudan drew attention to the challenge of being financially dependent on the contributions of international donors, as the position of donors might change and the pledged contribution might not be forthcoming.<sup>44</sup>

Recognizing the need to work towards longer-term and more predictable, sustainable and flexible financing for African Union-led operations under a United Nations mandate, the representative of the United Kingdom stated that the sustained engagement and commitment of a broader base of donors was essential, and pointed out the need to build on progress made by the African Union in enhancing its financial management capacity, as part of a transition to a more predictable funding process.<sup>45</sup>

The representative of the Russian Federation called for a rational approach to the issue of the provision of logistical and financial support by the United Nations to peacekeeping efforts by the African Union, and a thorough analysis of the conditions for the deployment and the needs of specific peacekeeping operations, as well as consultations with the African Union on all aspects of United Nations support. He held that the African Union's peacekeeping role demonstrated the need for rational utilization of the capacities of regional organizations by the Council, pursuant to Chapter VIII of the Charter, and noted that the existence of robust regional organizations capable of bearing a greater share of responsibility for the situation in their regions enabled the United Nations to focus on global issues to a greater extent, which was in the interests of the entire world community.<sup>46</sup>

For his part, the representative of France was opposed, for both operational and budgetary reasons, to resorting to obligatory contributions for operations which the United Nations did not lead. He stressed the importance of ensuring stricter financial tracking of peacekeeping operations, the budgets of which had recently increased exponentially, and he argued that the partners of the United Nations, such as the African Union, could not stay in the background. While noting the efforts undertaken by the African Union to reform its management methods and to diversify its peacekeeping funding sources, he affirmed that the United Nations must retain the primary responsibility for the operations that it funded. He further emphasized that the African Peace Facility of the European Union represented a first appropriate response to the African request for predictable and sustained financing for African-led peacekeeping operations.<sup>47</sup> Other speakers also welcomed the African Peace Facility as a source of such funding: it had financed a number of African-led peace operations, including AMIS, AMISOM and the Mission for the Consolidation of Peace in the Central African Republic.<sup>48</sup>

In the presidential statement adopted at the meeting, the Council noted that the issue of securing sustainable, predictable and flexible financing remained a key challenge, and expressed its determination to continue working towards a more predictable and sustainable solution to those funding challenges.<sup>49</sup>

Case 3 Briefing by the Chairperson-in-Office of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe

At the 6481st meeting, held on 15 February 2011 in connection with the briefing by the Chairperson-in-Office of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), the Chairperson-in-Office of OSCE stated that OSCE was the largest regional organization of the world under Chapter VIII of the Charter, with 56 participating States spanning the Euro-Atlantic and Eurasian regions. He praised the ongoing close and practical cooperation between OSCE and the United Nations in the maintenance of international peace and security and said that the more effective OSCE could be in promoting security and cooperation in Europe, the more time the Council would have to devote to other challenges in other areas of the world.<sup>50</sup>

Many speakers underlined and supported the importance of close cooperation between OSCE and the United Nations, some citing concrete examples not only in conflict management and resolution but also in such areas as counter-terrorism, non-proliferation and drug trafficking.<sup>51</sup>

Supporting the role of regional organizations in the maintenance of international peace and security under Chapter VIII of the Charter, the representative of India welcomed the briefing by the Chairperson-in-

He also stressed that the Security Council held the primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security.<sup>54</sup> The representative of China opined that the Council needed the support and cooperation of regional and subregional organizations in fulfilling its primary responsibility of maintaining international peace and security; the representative of Lebanon expressed a similar view.<sup>55</sup>

II. Recognition by the Security Council of the efforts of regional arrangements in the pacific settlement of disputes

Note

Section II deals with recognition by the Security Council of efforts by regional and subregional organizations in the pacific settlement of local disputes, within the framework of Article 52 of the Charter. As there were no pertinent discussions on the application and interpretation of Article 52 during the period under review, this section features only decisions of the Council recognizing the efforts of regional organizations in the pacific settlement of disputes.

Decisions recognizing the efforts of regional arrangements in the pacific settlement of disputes

In 2010 and 2011, the Security Council, in its decisions, frequently welcomed and supported the efforts by regional and subregional organizations in the pacific settlement of disputes, which involved facilitating mediation, peace and/or political processes independently or jointly with the United Nations and promoting and consolidating peace and stability in the countries and regions under its consideration. Most frequently referred to were the efforts by the African Union in dealing with Chad/the Central African Republic, Côte d'Ivoire, Djibouti/Eritrea, Darfur, the Sudan, Guinea-Bissau, Liberia, Libya, Somalia and the Sudan/South Sudan, including Abyei. At the same time, the Council also acknowledged efforts by the Caribbean Community, the Collective Security Treaty Organization, the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), the European Union, the Gulf Cooperation Council, the Intergovernmental Authority on Development (IGAD), the League of Arab States, the Mano River Union, the Organization of American States, the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC), the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), the Shanghai Cooperation Organization and the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation, as summarized below. See also table 2, which cites relevant decisions recognizing efforts by regional and subregional organizations in the pacific settlement of disputes.

In Africa, in connection with the reports of the Secretary-General on the Sudan, the Council underlined, without prejudice to its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, the importance of the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union “consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter”, with regard to the maintenance of peace and security in Africa, particularly in the Sudan.<sup>56</sup> In reaffirming the importance of promoting the African Union-United Nations-led peace and political process for Darfur, and urging the parties to urgently reach agreement on Abyei and other outstanding Comprehensive Peace Agreement issues, the Council, throughout the period under review, recognized, welcomed and supported the role and the work of the African Union, in particular the African Union High-level Implementation Panel, under the leadership of the President of South Africa, Thabo Mbeki, and the African Union-United Nations Joint Chief Mediator for Darfur,<sup>57</sup> as well as IGAD<sup>58</sup> and LAS.<sup>59</sup>

With regard to Côte d’Ivoire, the Council commended the Facilitator, the President of Burkina Faso, Blaise Compaoré, for his mediation efforts;<sup>60</sup> commended the continuing efforts of ECOWAS and the African Union, including the constructive efforts of the African Union High-level Panel for the Resolution of the Crisis in Côte d’Ivoire, to promote peace and stability and to resolve the crisis in the country, including the post-presidential election crisis.<sup>61</sup> The Council also welcomed the appointment of a High Representative for the implementation of the overall political solution by the Peace and Security Council of the African Union.<sup>62</sup>

Concerning Somalia, the Council welcomed the work of the African Union High Representative for Somalia and the Special Representative of the Chairperson of the African Union Commission for Somalia; welcomed and supported the endeavours of the African Union, IGAD and other regional organizations to promote peace and stability in Somalia, and requested the strengthening of cooperation among IGAD, the African Union and the United Nations to allow for an appropriate division of responsibilities in Somalia in an effort to reduce duplication of effort and ensure proper utilization of resources.<sup>63</sup>

The Council reiterated its full support, in connection with the situation in Chad, the Central African Republic and the subregion, for the efforts of the African Union and other international and regional actors to find solutions to the armed conflicts in the region;<sup>64</sup> welcomed the continued engagement of the African Union in efforts to resolve the border dispute between Eritrea and Djibouti and supported the call by the African Union in that regard;<sup>65</sup> welcomed the appointment by the Chairperson of the African Union Commission of a Special Representative for Guinea-Bissau;<sup>66</sup> expressed its appreciation for the continued support of ECOWAS and the African Union in Liberia;<sup>67</sup> welcomed the efforts of the African Union, LAS, the European Union and OIC in Libya;<sup>68</sup> and welcomed the role played by ECOWAS and encouraged the States members of the Mano River Union and other regional organizations to continue their dialogue aimed

III. Regional peacekeeping operations

Note

Section III concerns the practice of the Security Council in connection with cooperation with regional organizations in the area of peacekeeping, which can be considered as relevant to all Articles of Chapter VIII of the Charter — Articles 52, 53 and 54.

The section comprises two subsections: A, Decisions concerning regional peacekeeping operations; and B, Discussions concerning regional peacekeeping operations.

A. Decisions concerning regional peacekeeping operations

No new peacekeeping operations by regional and other organizations were authorized by the Council during the period under review. The Council did renew the mandates of three peacekeeping operations led by regional and other organizations, by decisions adopted under Chapter VII of the Charter, including the authorization of the use of force; the operations were the International Security Assistance Force in Afghanistan led by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the European Union Force and the NATO presence in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the African Union Mission in Somalia.<sup>74</sup> The three operations are discussed individually below.

The Council, for the first time in its decisions, recognized the contribution of the Mission for the Consolidation of Peace in the Central African Republic in support of durable peace and security in that country, and called upon regional and subregional organizations, upon request of the Government of the Central African Republic, to consider further actions to support security in that country, such as reinforcing that Mission.<sup>75</sup>

A number of policing and training operations deployed by regional and other organizations in Afghanistan, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Somalia were also acknowledged by the Council during the period under review: the NATO Training Mission-Afghanistan, the European Gendarmerie Force and the European Union Police Mission in Afghanistan that had been assisting in enhancing the capacities of the Afghan National Police;<sup>76</sup> the European Union Police Mission to Bosnia and Herzegovina, which had been deployed since 1 January 2003;<sup>77</sup> and the European Union training mission in Somalia for Somali security forces.<sup>78</sup>

International Security Assistance Force in Afghanistan

During the period under review, acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, the Council extended the authorization of the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) in Afghanistan, as defined by resolutions 1386 \(2001\) and 1510 \(2003\), for periods of 12 months, the last of which was until 13 October 2012.<sup>79</sup> The Council called upon Member States to contribute personnel, equipment and other resources to the Force, in recognizing the need for ISAF to meet all its operational requirements.<sup>80</sup>

The Council recognized the significance of the agreement reached between the Government of Afghanistan and countries contributing to ISAF at the Lisbon summit in November 2010 to gradually transfer lead security responsibility in Afghanistan to the Government countrywide by the end of 2014. It welcomed the Enduring Partnership Declaration agreed by NATO and the Government of Afghanistan at the Lisbon summit, in particular the intention expressed therein to provide sustained practical support aimed at improving and sustaining Afghanistan's capacity and capability to tackle continued threats to its security, stability and integrity, and to contribute to the security of the region through the stabilization of the situation in Afghanistan.<sup>81</sup>

By a series of resolutions, the Council authorized the Member States participating in ISAF to "take all measures necessary" to fulfil its mandate;<sup>82</sup> encouraged ISAF to sustain its efforts to train, mentor and empower the Afghan National Security Forces in order to accelerate progress towards the goal of self-sufficient, accountable and ethnically balanced Afghan security forces providing security and ensuring the rule of law throughout the country;<sup>83</sup> and called upon ISAF and the Senior Civilian Representative of NATO to continue to work in close consultation with the Government of Afghanistan and the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Afghanistan in accordance with resolutions 1917 \(2010\) and 1974 \(2011\) as well as with the Operation Enduring Freedom coalition in the implementation of the mandate of ISAF.<sup>84</sup> Moreover, the Council requested the leadership of ISAF to keep the Council regularly informed, through the Secretary-General, on the implementation of its mandate, including through the timely provision of quarterly reports.<sup>85</sup>

During the reporting period, the Council repeatedly noted the synergies in the objectives of the United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan and of ISAF, and stressed the need for strengthened cooperation, coordination and mutual support, taking due account of their respective designated responsibilities.<sup>86</sup> The Council also recognized the role and efforts of ISAF in minimizing the risk of civilian casualties;<sup>87</sup> improving the security situation and building the security capacities of the Government of Afghanistan;<sup>88</sup> supporting the efforts to address drug production and trafficking;<sup>89</sup> supporting the Afghan Independent Election Commission and Electoral Complaints Commission in organizing 2010 parliamentary elections;<sup>90</sup> and providing the leadership operating within the framework of the counter-terrorism operations in the country and in accordance with international law.<sup>91</sup> The Council further welcomed the continued coordination between ISAF and the Operation Enduring Freedom coalition and in-theatre cooperation between ISAF and the European Union presence in Afghanistan.<sup>92</sup>

Renewal of mandate	Decides to extend the authorization of ISAF, as defined in resolutions 1386 (2001) and 1510 (2003) , for a period of 12 months, until 13 October 2012 (para. 1)
Authorization of the use of force	Authorizes the Member States participating in ISAF to take all necessary measures to fulfil its mandate (para. 2)
Mandate	Stresses the importance of increasing, within a comprehensive framework, the functionality, professionalism and accountability of the Afghan security sector, encourages ISAF and other partners to sustain their efforts, as resources permit, to train, mentor and empower the Afghan National Security Forces in order to accelerate progress towards the goal of self-sufficient, sustainable, accountable and ethnically balanced Afghan security forces providing security and ensuring the rule of law throughout the country, welcomes the increasing leadership role played by the Afghan authorities in security responsibilities throughout the country, and stresses the importance of supporting the planned expansion of the Afghan National Army and the Afghan National Police (para. 5)
Mandate	Calls upon ISAF and the Senior Civilian Representative of NATO to continue to work in close consultation with the Government of Afghanistan and the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Afghanistan in accordance with Security Council resolution 1974 (2011) , as well as with the Operation Enduring Freedom coalition, in the implementation of the mandate of the Force (para. 6)
Reporting requirements	Requests the leadership of ISAF to keep the Council regularly informed, through the Secretary-General, on the implementation of its mandate, including through the timely provision of quarterly reports (para. 7)

African Union Mission in Somalia

In 2010 and 2011, the Council, acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, renewed the authorization to the States members of the African Union to maintain the African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) three times, for 12, 8 and 13 months respectively, the last renewal until 31 October 2012.<sup>93</sup> The Council also authorized AMISOM to “take all measures necessary” to carry out its existing mandate, as set out in paragraph 9 of resolution 1772 \(2007\).<sup>94</sup>

In renewing the mandate of AMISOM, the Council also renewed, three times, its request to the Secretary-General to continue to provide the logistical support package for AMISOM, as called for in resolution 1863

(2009), for the duration of the mandate.<sup>95</sup> The Council requested AMISOM to ensure that all equipment and services provided under the support package were used in a transparent and effective manner for their designated purposes, and requested the African Union to report to the Secretary-General on the usage of such equipment and services in accordance with the memorandum of understanding established between the two organizations.<sup>96</sup> Following the exchange of letters

<sup>95</sup> Resolutions 1910 \(2010\), para. 4; 1964 \(2010\), para. 7; and 2010 \(2011\), para. 10. The logistical support package was authorized for the maximum authorized strength of the Mission and comprised equipment and services, including public information support, but not including the transfer of funds, as described in the letter dated 30 January 2009 from the Secretary-General to the President of the Council (S/2009/60).

between the Secretary-General and the President of the Council of 21 and 29 September 2011, by which the logistical support package was extended to include some additional elements, as proposed by the Secretary-General,<sup>97</sup> the Council, by resolution 2010 \(2011\), on an exceptional basis and owing to the “unique character” of AMISOM, decided to extend the logistical support package.<sup>98</sup> The Council requested the African Union to increase the force strength of AMISOM from the mandated strength of 8,000 to 12,000 troops, thereby enhancing the Mission’s ability to carry out its mandate.<sup>99</sup> Throughout the period under review, the African Union was requested to maintain the deployment of AMISOM in Somalia<sup>100</sup> and to increase its force strength to its mandated level.<sup>101</sup> Noting the important role that an effective police presence could play in the stabilization of Mogadishu and stressing the need to continue to develop an effective Somali police force, the Council welcomed the desire of the African Union to develop a police component within AMISOM.<sup>102</sup> The Council encouraged the United Nations to work with the African Union to develop a guard force of an appropriate size, within the mandated troop levels of AMISOM, as an increase in United Nations organizations and their staff and other official international visitors in Mogadishu was placing additional pressure on AMISOM to provide security, escort and protection services.<sup>103</sup>

In a series of resolutions, the Council requested AMISOM to continue to assist the Transitional Federal Government in the deployment of the Somali Police Force and the National Security Force and to assist with the integration of Somali units trained by other Member States or organizations inside and outside Somalia.<sup>104</sup> The Council also urged AMISOM to continue to undertake efforts to prevent civilian casualties and to develop an effective approach to the protection of civilians as requested by the Peace and Security Council of the African Union.<sup>105</sup>

During the period under review, the Council repeatedly commended the contribution of AMISOM to lasting peace and stability in Somalia; recognized the progress made by AMISOM and the Somali security forces in consolidating security and stability in Mogadishu; and reiterated its support for AMISOM and expressed its appreciation for the continued commitment to AMISOM by the Governments of Uganda and Burundi.<sup>106</sup> The Council called upon other States members of the African Union to consider contributing to AMISOM.<sup>107</sup> The Council also frequently encouraged Member States and regional and international organizations to support AMISOM through the provision of equipment, technical assistance, direct bilateral donations and funding, including through the United Nations trust fund for AMISOM.<sup>108</sup> The Secretary-General was repeatedly requested to continue to provide technical and expert advice to the African Union in the planning and deployment of AMISOM.<sup>109</sup>

The Council repeatedly recalled its statement of intent regarding the establishment of a United Nations peacekeeping operation as expressed in resolution 1863 \(2009\), noted that any decision to deploy such an operation would take into account, inter alia, the conditions set out in the report of the Secretary-General dated 16 April 2009 and requested the Secretary-General to take the three-phase incremental approach identified in that report.<sup>110</sup>

For the provisions of Council decisions relating to the mandate of AMISOM and its renewal, authorization of the use of force, and the composition of the Mission, see table 5. Table 6 lists Council documents relating to AMISOM issued during the period under review.

<sup>97</sup> S/2011/591 and S/2011/602. The additional elements were (a) catering equipment and training to ensure the safe preparation of rations; (b) additional VHF/UHF, HF, telephone and TETRA communications; (c) sanitary and cleaning materials; and (d) furniture and stationery.

European Union Force and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Headquarters presence in Bosnia and Herzegovina

In 2010 and 2011, welcoming the intention of the European Union to maintain its military operation to Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Council, acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, twice renewed the authorization of a multinational stabilization force, the European Union Force (EUFOR), for periods of 12 months, the last of which was until 25 November 2012.<sup>111</sup> At the same time, the Council welcomed the decision of NATO to continue to maintain its Headquarters in order to continue to assist in implementing the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina and the annexes thereto,<sup>112</sup> in conjunction with EUFOR. It twice authorized the Member States acting through or in cooperation with NATO to continue to maintain a NATO Headquarters.<sup>113</sup>

The Council authorized the Member States acting through or in cooperation with EUFOR and the NATO presence to “take all necessary measures”, at the request of either EUFOR or NATO Headquarters, in defence of EUFOR or the NATO presence and to assist both organizations in carrying out their missions; to effect the implementation of and to ensure compliance with annexes 1-A and 2 of the Peace Agreement; and to ensure compliance with the rules and procedures governing command and control of airspace over Bosnia and Herzegovina with respect to all civilian and military air traffic.<sup>114</sup>

The Council also requested the Member States acting through or in cooperation with the European Union and NATO to report to the Council on the activities of EUFOR and the NATO Headquarters presence, respectively, through the appropriate channels and at least at three-monthly intervals.<sup>115</sup>

During the period under review, the Council repeatedly emphasized its appreciation to the Commander and personnel of EUFOR as well as the Senior Military Representative and personnel of NATO Headquarters Sarajevo for their contributions to the implementation of the Peace Agreement;<sup>116</sup> welcomed the decision taken by the Ministers for Foreign Affairs of the European Union on 25 January 2010 to start providing non-executive capacity-building and training support within EUFOR;<sup>117</sup> welcomed the increased engagement, and later the reinforced role, of the European Union in Bosnia and Herzegovina and the continued engagement of NATO;<sup>118</sup> and paid tribute to those Member States which had participated in EUFOR and the continued NATO presence, and welcomed their willingness to assist the parties to the Peace Agreement by continuing to deploy EUFOR and by maintaining a continued NATO presence.<sup>119</sup>

For the provisions of Council decisions relating to the renewal of the mandate of EUFOR and the NATO presence, authorization of the use of force and the reporting requirements, see table 7. Table 8 lists Council documents relating to EUFOR and the NATO presence for the period under review.

B. Discussions concerning regional peacekeeping operations

Among the discussions in the Security Council concerning regional peacekeeping operations during the period under review was a debate on the adequacy of the mandate of the European Union Rule of Law Mission in Kosovo to investigate allegations of illicit trafficking in human organs in Kosovo (see case 4 below).

Case 4

Security Council resolutions 1160 \(1998\), 1199 \(1998\), 1203 \(1998\), 1239 \(1999\) and 1244 \(1999\)

In his report dated 31 October 2011 on the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK), the Secretary-General informed the Council that the European Union Rule of Law Mission in Kosovo (EULEX) had appointed a lead prosecutor to head its Special Investigative Task Force, which had taken over the preliminary investigation launched by EULEX on 27 January 2011 into the allegations contained in the report of the Special Rapporteur of the Council of Europe, Dick Marty, entitled “Investigation of allegations of inhuman treatment of people and illicit trafficking in human organs in Kosovo”. The Secretary-General also noted that Belgrade remained of the view that an independent body, with investigative powers in Albania and beyond, should be established by the Security Council to lead the investigation.<sup>120</sup>

At the 6670th meeting, on 29 November 2011, the Minister for Foreign Affairs of Serbia welcomed the appointment of a lead prosecutor for the EULEX Special Investigative Task Force, which in his opinion could make an invaluable contribution to uncovering what had occurred inside Kosovo. He expressed the view, however, that EULEX had neither an adequate mandate nor sufficient temporal and territorial jurisdiction to carry out an investigation that would be comprehensive in scope, since EULEX could not operate at full capacity anywhere outside Kosovo and the EULEX Special Investigative Task Force had no ability to enforce the cooperation of all concerned. He said that, while he was not opposed to the centrality of EULEX in an investigation mechanism, it must be empowered by, and accountable to, the Security Council. He added that human organ harvesting and trafficking was not an organized crime but a war crime, and that this case should be treated in the same way as all of the war crimes committed in the Balkans had thus far been treated, with the Council being kept abreast of the investigations.<sup>121</sup> Noting the concern expressed by the representative of Serbia, the representative of China supported the United Nations carrying out investigations into such cases.<sup>122</sup> The representative of the Russian Federation called for a full and objective investigation of the facts of the illicit trafficking in human organs, and said that the investigation should proceed under the auspices of the United Nations and should report to the Security Council, noting the extremely unsatisfactory situation in Kosovo relating to witness protection, as confirmed by the Council of Europe.<sup>123</sup>

Several speakers agreed that the investigations should be independent, credible, impartial and thorough and hold the perpetrators accountable, and some raised concerns about witness protection.<sup>124</sup> The representative of India, noting that Serbia continued to be interested in a role for the Security Council in the investigation, called for the creation of a mechanism that enjoyed the support and confidence of all stakeholders.<sup>125</sup> Similarly, the representative of Nigeria maintained that it was necessary to accommodate the views of all stakeholders in designing the form of negotiations in order to ensure the broadest possible support for the final outcome of the investigations.<sup>126</sup> The representative of Brazil also reiterated her interest in exploring options that took into account the need to involve various jurisdictions and the importance of ensuring consistency with resolution 1244 (1999).<sup>127</sup>

Other speakers welcomed the appointment of the lead prosecutor and expressed confidence in the EULEX Special Investigative Task Force's investigations into the alleged crimes.<sup>128</sup> The representative of the United States pointed out that the European Union joint action explicitly provided for EULEX to investigate and prosecute serious crimes, such as those alleged in the Marty report, and to do so independently. Given that neighbouring States, including Serbia, had offered to cooperate with the Task Force, she held that there was no need for the Security Council to interfere with the ongoing investigations.<sup>129</sup> In a similar vein, the representative of the United Kingdom stated that EULEX had the appropriate authority and jurisdiction to take the "important work" of the investigations forward.<sup>130</sup> The representative of France also opined that EULEX had the resources to undertake a credible investigation that should be carried out calmly without any undue influence being brought to bear in the context of dialogue.<sup>131</sup> The representative of Germany was of the view that EULEX had the capacities, the competence and the jurisdiction for those investigations, and that it was unnecessary to set up an additional mechanism for investigations, in the light of the EULEX mandate.<sup>132</sup> The representative of Portugal, while underlining the essential role of EULEX in promoting and upholding the rule of law and law enforcement in Kosovo, believed that the Council would benefit from hearing more directly about the work of EULEX and its future perspectives on the investigations it had undertaken in diverse areas, including in human organ trafficking.<sup>133</sup>

IV. Authorization by the Security Council of enforcement action by regional arrangements

Note

Section IV deals with the practice of the Security Council in authorizing enforcement actions by regional arrangements, as provided in Article 53 of the Charter. Also covered here is the cooperation with regional arrangements in implementing Chapter VII measures which do not involve the use of force, such as sanctions and judicial measures. Given that the authorizations by the Council to regional peacekeeping operations to use force in the implementation of their mandates are discussed in section III above, this section focuses on the authorization of enforcement actions by regional and other organizations outside the context of regional peacekeeping operations.

The section consists of two subsections: A, decisions relating to Council authorization of the use of force by regional arrangements and requests for cooperation in implementation of Chapter VII measures; and B, discussions concerning enforcement actions by regional arrangements.

A. Decisions relating to Council authorization of the use of force by regional arrangements and requests for cooperation in implementation of Chapter VII measures

In 2010 and 2011, there were three instances in which the Council authorized the use of force by regional arrangements. On 17 March 2011, the Council authorized the use of force by regional arrangements to protect civilians in Libya and to enforce the no-fly zone authorized by it.<sup>134</sup> This authorization was kept under review<sup>135</sup> and then terminated on 27 October 2011.<sup>136</sup>

In authorizing the use of force in Libya in the context of the protection of civilians and the no-fly zone, the Council took note of the decision of the Council of the League of Arab States (LAS) of 12 March 2011 to call for the imposition of a no-fly zone on Libyan military aviation and establishment of safe areas in places exposed to shelling as a precautionary measure that allowed the protection of the Libyan people and foreign nationals residing in the country. It also recognized the important role of LAS in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security in the region and, “bearing in mind Chapter VIII of the Charter”, requested States members of LAS to cooperate with other Member States in the implementation of the use of force for protection of civilians. It further called upon Member States, acting nationally or through regional organizations or arrangements, to provide assistance for the purpose of implementing the measures authorized and decided that Member States concerned should inform the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the Secretary General of LAS of measures taken in enforcing the no-fly zone.<sup>137</sup> Subsequently, the Council expressed its readiness, as appropriate and when circumstances permitted, to terminate the authorization given, in consultation with the Libyan authorities<sup>138</sup> and did so on 27 October 2011, taking note of the National Transitional Council’s “Declaration of Liberation” of 23 October 2011.<sup>139</sup>

The other two instances in which the Council authorized the use of force by regional organizations concerned the fight against piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia (see table 9, under “The situation in Somalia”).

With regard to measures under Chapter VII not involving the use of force, the Council in its decisions requested the cooperation of regional and other organizations in the context of sanctions measures against Libya,<sup>140</sup> Somalia<sup>141</sup> and the Sudan<sup>142</sup> and in connection with the non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction,<sup>143</sup> as well as in relation to the

B. Discussions concerning Council authorization of enforcement action by regional arrangements

During the period under review, the Council discussed the authorization of a new enforcement action by regional arrangements in connection with the situation in Libya. This is the subject of case 5 below, which illustrates the reaction of the Council to the call by the League of Arab States to use force in protecting civilians and to impose a no-fly zone on Libya.

Case 5 The situation in Libya

At its 6498th meeting, on 17 March 2011, in connection with the situation in Libya, the Security Council adopted resolution 1973 (2011), by 10 votes in favour, none against and 5 abstentions (Brazil, China, Germany, India, Russian Federation). By that resolution, taking note of the decision of the Council of the League of Arab States of 12 March 2011 to call for the imposition of a no-fly zone on Libyan military aviation, it authorized Member States that had notified the Secretary-General, acting nationally or through regional organizations or arrangements, and acting in cooperation with the Secretary-General, to take all necessary measures to protect civilians and civilian populated areas under threat of attack in Libya. The Council decided to establish a ban on flights in the airspace of Libya to help to protect civilians; and authorized Member States that had notified the Secretary-General and the Secretary General of the League of Arab States, acting nationally or through regional organizations or arrangements, to take all necessary measures to enforce compliance with that ban.<sup>145</sup>

The representative of France, speaking before the vote, considered that the draft resolution<sup>146</sup> provided the Council with the means to protect the civilian population in Libya, by establishing a no-fly zone and by authorizing the members of LAS and those Member States that so wished to take the measures necessary to implement its provisions, and he called on all Council members to support that initiative. He expressed the readiness of his country to act with Member States, in particular Arab States, that wished to do so.<sup>147</sup> After the adoption of the resolution, the representative of the United Kingdom welcomed the fact that the Council had acted swiftly and comprehensively in response to the “appalling” situation in Libya and to the appeal of LAS. He emphasized that resolution 1973 (2011) authorized Member States to take all necessary measures to protect civilians and civilian populated areas under threat of attack, while ruling out a foreign occupation force of any form on any part of Libyan territory. His country stood ready to implement the resolution, along with partners in the Arab world and in NATO.<sup>148</sup> The representative of Lebanon emphasized that the aim of the resolution, which would not result in the occupation of any parts of Libyan territory, was to protect Libyan civilians. He made it clear that his country would never advocate the use of force or support war in any part of the world, including Libya, and hoped that the resolution would have a deterring effect, would ensure that the Libyan authorities moved away from using violence against their own people, and would avert the need for the use of force.<sup>149</sup> According to the representative of the United States, resolution 1973 (2011) was a powerful response to the call by LAS of 12 March 2011 and the urgent needs on the ground.<sup>150</sup> Similarly, the representative of Colombia stated that the Council had effectively responded to an express request made by a regional organization, LAS, which had not acted on its own, but had rather called for the Council to discharge the functions assigned to it by the Charter.<sup>151</sup>

The representative of Brazil, on the other hand, was of the view that resolution 1973 (2011) contemplated measures that went beyond the call by LAS and she doubted that the use of force as provided for in the resolution would lead to the realization of the common objective, namely the immediate end to violence and the protection of civilians.<sup>152</sup> The representative of the Russian Federation stated that, although his delegation had given its full attention to the request by LAS, a whole range of concrete and legitimate questions raised in the discussion on the draft resolution remained unanswered, such as how the no-fly zone was to be enforced, what the rules of engagement would be and what limits on the use of force there would be. He also stated that the draft resolution had transcended the initial concept stated by LAS, and provisions had been introduced into the text that could potentially open the door to large-scale military intervention, although statements had been heard claiming an absence of any such intentions.<sup>153</sup> Echoing the statement by the representative of the Russian Federation, the representative of China said that his country was always against the use of force in international relations.<sup>154</sup> The representative of India stated that far-reaching measures under Chapter VII of the Charter had been authorized, with relatively little credible information on the situation on the ground. He lamented the lack of clarity about details of enforcement measures, including who would participate and with what assets, and exactly how the measures would be implemented.<sup>155</sup>

V. Reporting by regional arrangements on their activities in the maintenance of international peace and security

Note

Section V deals with the reporting by regional and subregional organizations on their activities in the maintenance of international peace and security, within the framework of Article 54 of the Charter.

The section is divided into two subsections: A, Decisions and documents relating to reporting by regional arrangements; and B, Discussions relating to reporting by regional arrangements.

A. Decisions and documents relating to reporting by regional arrangements

In 2010 and 2011, the Council made no explicit reference to Article 54 in its decisions. However, on a number of occasions, it requested regional organizations to report on their activities in the maintenance of international peace and security.

In the context of regional peacekeeping operations authorized by the Council, the International Security Assistance Force in Afghanistan was requested to keep the Council regularly informed on the implementation of its mandate including “through the timely provision of quarterly reports”.<sup>156</sup> In connection with the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Council requested Member States acting through or in cooperation with the European Union and the Member States acting through or in cooperation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to report to the Security Council on the activity of the European Union Force and the NATO Headquarters presence in Bosnia and Herzegovina, respectively, “through the appropriate channels and at least at three-monthly intervals”.<sup>157</sup> In authorizing the use of force in the fight against piracy off the coast of Somalia, the Council requested regional organizations cooperating with the Transitional Federal Government to inform the Security Council and the Secretary-General in nine months’ time of the progress of actions undertaken in the exercise of the authorization.<sup>158</sup>

During the period under review, several communications issued as Council documents cited Article 54 explicitly, transmitting decisions of regional organizations to the Council.<sup>159</sup> In addition, in his report dated 28 June 2011 on the role of regional and subregional arrangements in implementing the responsibility to protect, the Secretary-General, citing Article 54 together with other provisions of Chapter VIII, stated that, while they were not “always strictly observed in practice”, those provisions underlined the value of ongoing working relationships among global, regional and subregional organizations for prevention and protection purposes.<sup>160</sup>

B. Discussions relating to reporting by regional arrangements

During the period under review, Article 54 was explicitly referred to in a few deliberations.<sup>161</sup>

At its 6306th meeting, on 4 May 2010, the Council for the first time considered the item entitled “Cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations in maintaining international peace and security” solely with the European Union, and heard a briefing by its High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy on the cooperation between the United Nations and the European Union in the area of peace and security.<sup>162</sup> At
