

Journal of Applied Oral Science applies the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International \(CC BY\) license, to articles we publish. If you submit your paper for publication by JAOS, you agree to have the CC BY license applied to your work. JAOS requires that you as the author agree that anyone can reuse your article content in whole or part for any purpose, for free, even for commercial purposes. These permitted uses include but are not limited to self-archiving by authors of submitted, accepted and published versions of their papers in institutional repositories. Anyone may copy, redistribute, reuse, or modify the content as long as the author and original source are properly cited.

If any authorship modification occurs after submission, a document with the agreement of all authors is required to be kept by the Editor-in-Chief. Exclusion of authors may only be accepted by his/her own request.

We hereby state that:

- The content is original and does not consist of plagiarism or fraud;
- The work is not under consideration or will be submitted to other journal until a final decision is issued by this journal;
- I have read the final version and assume the responsibility for its contents.
- I understand that if the work, or part of it, is considered deficient or a fraud, I take shared responsibility with the other authors.

Release of conflict of interest

The authors of this article declare that they have no conflicts of interest. This research was conducted in the absence of any commercial or financial relationships that could be construed as a potential conflict of interest.

The authors of this article disclose certain potential conflicts of interest:

Authorship contribution form

The Journal of Applied Oral Science follows the Uniform Requirements set out by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (www.icmje.org) for authorship. To qualify for authorship, each author must make a substantial contribution to the intellectual content of the manuscript.

CRedit (Contributor Roles Taxonomy) is a high-level taxonomy, including 14 roles, that can be used to represent the roles typically played by contributors to research outputs. The roles describe each contributor's specific contribution to the scholarly output.

The corresponding author is responsible for ensuring that all coauthors meet the requirements for authorship. Each author agrees that the corresponding author will be responsible for the submission of the manuscript to the JAOS and any associated activities.

By submitting this manuscript, each of the authors indicates that he or she has had full access to all data in this study and takes complete and public responsibility for the integrity of the data and the accuracy of the data analysis. The issue of authorship must be resolved before submission of the manuscript. All authors must sign this form, confirming he or she has made the contributions listed in the chart below.

Please list all the manuscript authors and their contribution in the Contribution Table below. This form should be submitted with the original submission.

Article Title

Number of authors

It is recommended to have a maximum of eight authors. Additional two authors fields can be added in cases of genuine necessity and individual contribution
