

Crime Scene Kitchen

Season 3

Can you walk into a kitchen and figure out what's been baked solely by the ingredients and clues left behind? Hosted by actor and comedian Joel McHale along with celebrity judges chef Curtis Stone and cake artist Yolanda Gampp, Crime, Scene Kitchen is a culinary guessing game in which bakers – both self-taught and classically trained – are tasked with decoding and deciphering what type of dessert was made with only crumbs, food trails and humorous hints as clues. Teams then must recreate the tasty treat, attempting to best capture its original form and flavor in order to win a $100,000 grand prize.
