

THE AUDUBON MURAL PROJECT

John James Audubon made northern Manhattan his home in 1842. More than 170 years later, many of the birds he painted during his career as a naturalist are at risk. The National Audubon Society published a landmark report, Birds and Climate Change, which looked at how avian species across North America would fare in the future. In it Audubon scientists identified 314 species whose survival will be severely threatened if the planet continues to warm at its current pace. The Audubon Mural Project seeks to paint those birds anew—starting in John James Audubon's old neighborhood.
