

Bring a people's history to the classroom with the Zinn Education Project www.zinnedproject.org

The screenshot shows the Zinn Education Project website. At the top, a banner reads "TEACHING A PEOPLE'S HISTORY" in a stylized font. To the right, the text "ZINN EDUCATION PROJECT" is displayed, with "login | register" and a search icon below it. A navigation menu includes "HOME", "ABOUT", "WHY", "TEACHING MATERIALS", "NEWS", "FAQ", "SUPPORT", and "CONTACT". The main content area is divided into several sections: "teaching materials" with sub-sections for "EXPLORE BY TIME PERIOD" and "EXPLORE BY THEME"; "LIST OF resources"; "news & events" featuring a yellow pencil graphic and a text box about Howard Zinn's talks; and "about Howard Zinn" with a portrait of Zinn and a quote: "I can UNDERSTAND pessimism, but I don't BELIEVE in it. It's not simply a matter of faith, but of historical EVIDENCE. Not overwhelming evidence, just enough to give HOPE, because for hope we don't need certainty, only POSSIBILITY." At the bottom, there are social media share buttons, a copyright notice for 2009, and the website designer's name, Vibrant Design Group.

More than 75 free downloadable teaching activities and hundreds of resources for middle school and high school classrooms, searchable by time period or theme. Visit www.zinnedproject.org today.

The Zinn Education Project is coordinated by www.teachingforchange.org

Rethinking Schools

www.rethinkingschools.org