

PREFACE

An unpublished opinion does not constitute precedent, nor is it binding upon the appellate court. Rule 1:36-3. However, an unpublished opinion may be called to a court's attention as secondary research so long as the party using the unpublished opinion provides all parties and the court with a copy of the full text of the opinion, as well as any other favorable and unfavorable relevant unpublished material known to exist. Falcon v. Am. Cyanamid, 221 N.J. Super. 252, 261 n. 2 (App.Div.), certif. denied, 108 N.J. 185 (1987).
