

A Message from the IRIS Program
IRIS Program Outlook
October 2022

The IRIS Program is committed to producing assessments in a timely and transparent manner. Table 1 describes assessments that are currently in development and their projected public release dates. The IRIS Program is providing this information so that stakeholders are aware of upcoming assessment products, and to allow the public and research community an opportunity to communicate relevant research to EPA. When made public, the documents listed in Table 1 can be found at Regulations.gov in the IRIS public comment dockets. Docket numbers are listed on the IRIS website here:

<https://iris.epa.gov/Dockets/>. While IRIS assessments are not associated with proposed rulemaking, Regulations.gov serves as both an internal portal to facilitate public comment and as a document repository for Federal government agencies.

Projected dates are based on factors such as the 1) scope of the assessment (e.g., size and complexity of a chemical's evidence base)ⁱ and 2) resource availability. Nearer-term activities are estimated using current Fiscal Year (FY) and Quarter. Long-term milestones are projected only for the FY due to the increased uncertainty of projecting timelines at the Quarter level. While projected dates reflect the IRIS Program's best estimate at this time based on available information, they are subject to change. Changes to estimated dates typically result from additional time needed to address the scientific challenges unique to each chemical assessment, new data, or to respond to internal, public, and/or peer review comments, in addition to current EPA priorities and the availability of staff with the appropriate expertise to address those challenges. The IRIS Program Outlook is updated at least three times each calendar year (February, June, October).

Additional information regarding other pertinent products relating to IRIS assessments and IRIS Program activities is included in Table 2. For questions regarding the IRIS Program activities, visit the Contact Us page on the EPA Website. For press inquiries, visit EPA's Office of Public Affairs website.

ⁱ The scope of IRIS assessments is generally presented in the IRIS Assessment Plan (IAP). Information regarding size of the evidence base and expected key areas of scientific complexity is available in these documents. For information on how IAPs are developed, please see the IRIS Handbook: https://cfpub.epa.gov/ncea/iris_drafts/recordisplay.cfm?deid=350086.

¹The IRIS Program is currently revising the ORD Staff Handbook for Developing IRIS Assessments (“IRIS Handbook”) following external peer review by the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine (NASEM), which impacts the schedule of systematic review protocol development for several assessments (ethylbenzene, naphthalene, uranium, vanadium and compounds (inhalation)). Following the release of the Handbook and systematic review protocols, subsequent projected assessment milestone dates (public comment and peer review) will be updated and provided in the next IRIS Program Outlook update.
