Gary G. McCullough reportedly left his farm in his truck at 6:30 p.m. May 11, 1999, enroute to Diamond, Mo. He was wearing a t-shirt, blue jeans, brown work boots, and a camouflage cap. After several searches of the farm in the following days, McCullough's truck was found on May 14. It had been abandoned on a dead-end road in Pulaskifield. Nine years later, Gary's step-daughter, Liehnia Chapin, also vanished. Family members have asked the court to declare Gary dead. Foul play is suspected by law enforcement.
